Meatless Meals—Local hotels and many restaurants today fell in line with President Truman's "meatless Tuesday" plan . . . and Marilou Le Doux of Wollaston found she got bacon and eggs without the bacon on ordering her breakfast at a downtown eatery. In the North End, a "Truman special" went on the menu at an Italian restaurant . . . spaghetti sans meatballs.

Hotels Lead Hub Meatless Tuesday

Milk was removed from the menu of one Boston restaurant chain in an effort to force down its price today as the city generally held a partial observance of the meatless Tuesday called for by President Truman as one means of saving food. Boston hotels complied 100 per cent with the Tuesday meat ban proposed by the President but restaurants, both chain and independent, served it to prevent spoilage and waste of supplies already in their refrigerators.

All were agreed, however, that they would comply hereafter with the meatless Tuesday proposal and also agreed to have no poultry or eggs on menus on Thursday and serve bread and butter only when requested.

State and city institutions will go along with the President's proposal with meat, poultry and eggs being served only to those patients for whose diet these foods are essential, it was announced.

Over-the-counter sales of milk were suspended today in the 16 restaurants of the Walton chain with the announcement:

"We are waiting to see what suppliers can offer us a fair price."

LOBBY CHARGE

General Manager Paul Walton explained that the move was an effort to obtain some reduction in milk prices. He admitted some customers did not like the move but said the firm was trying to keep down prices.

The action followed a charge by James C. Gahan, Jr., counsel for the Mass. Restaurant Ass'n, that certain milk companies were building an "effective and terrifying lobby by unwarranted use of state tribunals and boards."

Gahan's assertion came last night at a mass meeting of restaurant owners. The association already has obtained a temporary injunction to prevent the State Milk Control Board from publishing price schedules, which he asserted had become "minimum prices." He also promised the Legislature would be asked to remove oleomargarine tariffs so it could compete with butter.

Other restaurants, however, continued to sell milk over the counter, leaving the Walton chain on its own in the effort to cut the restaurant price of milk.

IN FULL FORCE

Most restaurants in selling meat on all meal menus today stated there would be general compliance next Tuesday.

In the various institutions, meatless Tuesday went into full force. At City Hospital Dr. James W. Manary said the 1200 employes would have beans today instead of meat. Similar fare would go to patients except those who had a required meat diet.

Today's noon meal at Charles st. jail was spaghetti and meat sauce. A cheese sauce would be substituted, according to Deputy Sheriff James J. Mellen and a vegetable dinner would replace

Robot Plane Starts Return Atlantic Hop

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Oct. 7 (INS)—A U. S. Air Force C-54 Skymaster with a mechanical brain took off today on the second push-button flight across the Atlantic without human guidance. The robot-directed plane, only aircraft so equipped in the world, left the runway at Lyneham, Wiltshire, without a hand touching the controls.

The automatic pilot was set for Stephenville, Nfld., 2400 miles away.

It was from Stephenville that the plane made the first automatic flight across the Atlantic, landing near London Sept. 22.

Col. James M. Gillespie, chief of the air force all-weather flying division, again was the pilot.

Just prior to the takeoff, Gillespie said:

"We profited a great deal from the flight over here. Although it is true we were only 25 miles off our course from Brize Norton when we picked up the signals from there, we hope to do even better on the return trip."

He taxied the craft to the start of the runway and pulled the switch setting the mechanical brain in operation.

The skymaster, loaded with 3500 gallons of gasoline and carrying 11 passengers—there were 14 in the first flight—was airborne in 1400 yards, using only half the runway.

The plane, guided by radio beam from the airport, veered to the southwest at a predetermined height.

It was expected to pick up a radio frequency within 100 miles of Stephenville and follow it to the airport.

Push-Button Plane Due Home Tomorrow

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 7 (INS)—The United States Air Force C-54, en route to the United States from London, is expected to land at the USAF all-weather flying station here at 2:00 p. m. tomorrow.

Col. J. F. Taylor, deputy commander of the air base, said the ship, making a return push-button flight from the British Isles, would make an overnight stop at Harmon Field, Stephenville, Nfld..

Strange Missiles Fly Over Sweden

ROSES FRESH 5 MOS. ON SACRED IMAGE

STOCKPORT, Eng., Oct. 7 (AP)—The parish priest of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church said today his parishioners were awed and enraptured by a crown of 22 yellow roses which he reported still fresh five months after they were placed on a statue of the Virgin Mary.

The statue of carved orange-wood, is the personal property of the pastor, Rev. Dr. James Turner.

He said every year, on the first Sunday in May, it was brought to the sanctuary for the crowning ceremony, and that the garlands normally began to wilt within two weeks.

This year, seven-year-old Pauline Byrne crowned the statue with roses. The priest said they had not been touched or watered since then.

"It is not for me to say it is a miracle, but it's above and beyond nature," Fr. Turner said.

Donors Offer Blood To Girl Hit by Truck

Beverly Katseff, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Katseff, Maverick st., Chelsea, was in critical condition in Chelsea Memorial Hospital today following an emergency operation to relieve pressure on the brain caused by a compound skull fracture suffered when she was struck by a 10-wheel truck while crossing Central ave., Chelsea.

The accident occurred yesterday while she was returning with her four-year-old cousin, Bruce Eckman, from a visit to a neighborhood store. Police said the truck was operated by John A. Dix, Amonmouth st., Medford.

Scores of friends, neighbors and relatives responded quickly when it was feared the little girl, who has the rare Type A blood, would need blood to sustain her life. From these donors sufficient blood was made available for the time being.

Windsor Sees King, Duchess Not in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor saw King George, his brother, at Buckingham Palace today. The Duke is a guest at the home of his friend, the Earl of Dudley, for a short visit after a season at his Riviera villa.

His American-born duchess did not accompany him from France, bladet said

Report Shinwell Out of Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—As a forerunner to a cabinet shakeup, the London Star reported late today that Prime Minister Attlee had removed Fuel Minister Emanuel Shinwell, the chairman of the Labor party.

Shinwell will become war minister, a job which does not corry cabinet rank and puts him under the immediate supervision of the defense minister, the Star said.

Attlee saw King George VI this morning, apparently to go through with the formality of receiving the sovereign's assent to changes in the cabinet.

Hynes Waits Fin. Com. Vote Machine Probe

Acting Mayor John B. Hynes today decided to take no action in the purchase of 500 voting machines until the Boston Finance Commission has completed an investigation.

A spokesman for the commission announced that four members of the Boston election commission have been asked to appear before the finance commission tomorrow afternoon.

Quiz 2 Girls, 5 Boys In Somerville Killing

Two 15-year-old girls, one from Jamaica Plain and the other from Cambridge, and five youths, including two juveniles, all arrested in connection with a series of Greater Boston breaks in the past five weeks, were being questioned by Cambridge police today in connection with the fatal shooting of Somerville Patrolman Michael J. Dowd, 56, last June 12.

The youths were arrested in a raid on a Harvard st., Cambridge, apartment, shortly after the two girls, both sought as runaways, were picked up by police.

Of the five youths, three are identified as John Parron, 22; his brother, Kenneth, 17, ad George Gallagher, 16. All are charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime.

FIND TWO REVOLVERS

The investigation of the Dowd shooting was revived when a .32 caliber revolver, the same as that used in the killing, was found in the apartment along with a .45 caliber revolver and several hundred rounds of ammunition.

Dowd died of a bullet wound in the left side of his stomach inflicted when he interrupted a youth attempting to break into a Highland ave., Somerville, liquor store.

At that time, a 17-year-old Cambridge youth, paroled from the Shirley Industrial School, was picked up for questioning and later released.

4 OTHERS SOUGHT

Four other youngsters are being sought in connection with breaks into homes in Cambridge, Belmont, Somerville and outlying districts. The two girls are suspected of participating in a break in the Cambridge Neighborhood House, Moore st., several weeks ago.

Police said they recovered $1800 in loot in the Parron apartment and a number of pawn tickets.

A young Shirley School parolee, whose conscience bothered him, led to the arrests when he walked into Cambridge police headquarters and said he wanted to confess.

ONE WOUNDED

Police said John Parron had a gunshot wound in the left hand which he allegedly admitted had been inflicted accidentally during a holdup Saturday night.

The 15-year-old Cambridge girl was given into the custody of her parents for appearance in juvenile court tomorrow.

The other 15-year-old girl was held by police after a brazen recital of joining up with the gang and participating in at least one holdup.

SEEKS DIVORCE?—Screen actress Georgette Windsor (above), has separated from socialite Harry Cushing, whom she married last August. A trial separation will determine if divorce proceedings will follow.

Rain Expected To Follow Warm Wave

The Northland took the play away from the Southland for the second successive day today as temperatures in New England hovered near the summer mark while an Atlantic-born storm pounded the Georgia coast, flooding streets of seaboard cities and uprooting trees.

The mercury in Boston stood at 70 in midforenoon with the weatherman's promise it would rise to near 80 before nightfall. In the offing, however, was rain by tomorrow night and somewhat cooler temperatures.

The high waves pounding the Georgia coast with the aid of a 60-mile-an-hour widn were reflected earlier in Jacksonville, Fla., where the highest tide in the memory of residents forced hundreds of volunteers to throw up a wall of sandbags to prevent damage.

Raps Hub Cleric's Blast at GI Morals

Statements of Rev. Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor of the Park Street Congregational Church, on moral conditions abroad were branded as "grossly misrepresented" today by Rev. W. O. H. Garman, director of the civil affairs for the American Council of Christian Churches.

Dr. Ockenga, who recently toured Europe with Rev. Mr. Garman and 12 other clergymen, asserted in his charges "there is no sex morality in Germany" and that "most women there are ready to sell their favors for a few candy bars or cigarets."

M. I. T. Dedicates New Laboratory

Dedication ceremonies were held today for Massachusetts Institute of Technology's new gas turbine laboratory, attended by high Army and Navy officers, educators and industrial leaders representing almost every field of engineering.

The laboratory, equipped with the most advanced facilities for graduate instruction and fundamental research, is two stories high and of heavy reinforced concrete construction. It was built by grants of more than $500,000 from leading industries interested in gas turbine research. The U. S. Navy contributed some of the equipment.

Speakers were Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board of General Motors Corp., and Gordon S. Rentschler, chairman, National City Bank of New York.

Prisoner, 17, Regrets Freedom by Mistake

Charles Dombroski, 17, of Danforth st., Jamaica Plain, was pleasantly startled when City Hospital authorities told him he was cured and could go home. He had'nt been home since last June, when sentenced to six months at Deer Island for breaking and entering and larceny. He was sent from the House of Correction to the hospital last Friday after becoming ill.

However, since the hospital officials told him his treatment had been completed and, good luck to him, he could go—he went.

Dombroski walked around for two hours, admiring the scenery, reveling in his freedom—when his conscience suddenly squared off and knocked his preferences cold.

He sought out a policeman, told him how it was and asked for suggestions. Te cop took him in. He was returned to Deer Island.

Penal Comr. Maxwell B. Grossman said Dombroski would serve the rest of his term and "no action will be taken against him."

City Hospital officials said they sought Dombroski was an employe at Deer Island, not a prisoner.

BOMB SCARE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7 (AP)—Six bombs confronted Steve Loska, 19, when he opened the trunk of the used car he had just purchased.

Hurrying to a phone, he had a squad car, several detectives, a ballistics expert and a few assorted policemen on the scene in a jiffy.

Investigation disclosed the car's former owner was a fireworks manufacturer, who had forgotten to remove all of his samples.

Renew Search For Anne Straw

HOLDERNESS, N. H., Oct. 7—A new search of the bottom of Little Squam Lake continued today in a renewed hunt for Anne Straw, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ellis Straw of Manchester.

Robert Hewitt of Bristol has been hired by the Straw family and will continue the diving operation until the lake freezes.

Decision to continue the hunt here was made despite the theory of the Straw family that their daughter still is alive.

Miss Straw dropped from sight July 21.

ASK UNIFORM AUTO RATE

The Cambridge City Council today was on record as favoring a uniform automobile insurance rate for all of Massachusetts instead of the zone system which brought increased rates a week ago.

Reds Agree to New Reich Peace Talk, But Rift Grows

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The British Foreign Office announced today Russia had agreed to a Big Four Foreign Ministers' Council Nov. 25 for a second attempt to write a German peace treaty, which may provide a crucial test of world co-operation. A spokesman at the same time declared the manifesto issued by Communists of nine European nations, calling on their supporters to resist "United States and British imperialism," represented "a clear deterioration of the international situation."

The spokesman said the creation of what the Communists called an information bureau in Belgrade, Yugoslav, was "the official resuscitation of the Comintern," the Communist agency devoted in the past to world revolution.

The Red manifest woas sharply critical of Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Sec. Bevin, but in Rome, the Italian Communist leader Lugi Longo denied that the information bureau constituted a Comintern—Comintern is an abbreviation for Communist International which the Russians asserted was disbanded in May of 1943, when German armies were deep in Russia and U. S. lease-lend supplies were flowing freely into the Soviet Union.

MOSCOW MEETING FAILED

Longo said the bureau stemmed from a growing danger of war.

Diplomatic circles speculated on how much, if any, the formation of the bureau might complicate or ease the atmosphere of the November foreign ministers' conference. United States and French acceptances previously had been received. All four powers agreed likewise to a meeting in London Nov. 6 of deputies of the foreign ministers to lay groundwork for the main conference.

A previous meeting in Moscow in March on the German and Austrian peace treaties mede no progress.

The newspapers of Western Europe, aside from those of the extreme left, gravely interpreted in bold banner lines and in editorials the Commuuist decision to form the co-ordinated "information bureau" as the beginning of intestified ideological warfare.

WOULD OUTLAW REDS

"The mask is off—it is as well," said London's Daily Herald, organ of the Labor Party.

The Conservative London Daily Telegraph said Russia's acceptance of the Nov. 25 date for the foreign ministers meeting was received "with satisfaction." Of the Communist information bureau, it said editorially:

"The new move does, of course, contribute to the ending of lingering hopes that Russia will play a loyal and constructive part in world revival."

The rightist Paris newspaper, L'Epoque, asked that the Communist party be outlawed as "the Russian Fifth Column in France."

Norwegian newspapers stressed that the Communist move had widened the cleft between the West and the East.

"PEACHES" DIVORCED—Frances (Peaches Browning) Willson (above), who was divorced in Reno, Nev., by Ralph N. Willson, her fourth husband, formerly of Columbus, O. HEMLINE LAW

ATLANTA, Oct. 7 (AP)—Spurred on by an intrepid bachelor, the Atlanta city council agreed—with tongue in collective cheek—to do something about the length of women's skirts.

It adopted a resolution asking the city attorney to prepare an ordinance regulating the hemline of feminine apparel.

Alderman Ed Gilliam presented the resolution. It was based on the premise that "pulchritude within the corporate limits of Atlanta has long since reached its zenith and any change therefrom is an unhappy declination."

Break Victims View Seized Loot

Victims of Greater Boston housebreaks appeared at police headquarters today to examine loot recovered in the Chandler st., South End, apartment of Arthur J. Polley, 42, a parolee sought by police for 10 months.

Police seized Polley and $300 worth of loot, including silverware, radios, cameras and other valuables, which they said he admitted he had stolen in housebreaks.

Police said Polley had been wanted on a warrant charging him with violation of parole from state prison. They said his record dated back to boyhood and that he served two state prison sentences for breaking and entering.

Although Polley refused to name his accomplices, police said they have the identities of several of them and would seek warrants today.

Rep. Rogers Asks Early Social Security Payments

LOWELL, Oct. 7 (AP)—U. S. Rep. Edith N. Rogers (R.) of Massachusetts today demanded that the Social Security Board resume its pre-war schedule of payments on the first of each month.

In a message to Social Security Com. Arthur J. Altmeyer, Mrs. Rogers said the payments to beneficiaries were delayed to the fifth of each month as a wartime measure.

Textile Chief Rieve to Urge CIO Vote for Anti-Red Pledge

Already having exploded one bombshell in labor circles with his announcement that the Textile Workers of America, one of the largest of the CIO affiliates, had agreed to file the non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley Law, Emil Rieve, president of the textile workers, again jolted labor groups today with his assertion that he would attempt to have the parent organization adopt similar action.

"Our compliance with this section of the act is forced on us and is in no way to be construed as an acceptance of or an adherence to the un-American principles which underlie it," Rieve said.

Rieve, a vice-president of the CIO, said he would urge that group to endorse the non-Communist affidavits on a national basis when the parent group meets in Boston.

In taking its action on the affidavits, the Textile Union, the fourth largest of the CIO, claiming a membership of 450,000 workers, became the first major union to so move.

Rieve said he had forwarded the union's decision to Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the NLRB. However, he said, in his letter, that certain parts of the law were objectionable.

"We do not depart from our stated conviction that major portions of the law, including the anti-Communist section, are unconstitutional and will be so declared by our highest court," he said.

"The harmful effects of the labor-management relations act of 1947 will be felt by our members whether we file or not.

The executive board of the CIO meets at the Hotel Bradford tomorrow in a pre-convention and may take action on Rieve's proposal for some action on the non-Communist affidavits.

Rieve said that his union had also demanded increases as high as 15 cents an hour.

"Textile manufacturers are making more money than is good for them," he asserted.

Prowler Avoids Trap in Saugus

Despite the use of women decoys, a posse of Saugus neighbors today failed to trap a prowler who for weeks has made nightly appearances and terrorized residents of the Pine View section.

The prowler has peered in windows nightly and leaped at women passing the Pine View cemetery.

When police failed, neighbors decided to send their womenfolk out to act as decoys. The posse of men hid close by ready to give chase.

Earlier in the evening the prowler made his regular appearance, but apparently knew a trap had been laid for him early today.

U. S. Farmer Views Europe, Tells of Its Appalling Plight

By HAL BOYLE

GARNER, Ia., Oct. 7 (AP)—Big-boned Jack Dethmers, comfortably well-to-do after years of rugged work in the black rich soil of Iowa, went abroad to see how the farmers of other lands were faring.

He was one of 22 curious Iowa farmers who paid $1500 apiece for a month-long air trip to see European conditions first hand.

Dethmers has come back appalled at the hopelessness of Europe's economic situation.

"Seems as if we knew less when we got back than when we started," he said soberly.

"We'll have to feed them—the people over there. And we can't sell it to them because they're already bankrupt. We'll just have to give it to them.

"It's either that or turn them over to the Communists. The feeling is pretty strong over there already."

The six-foot farmer, who worked his own way up from hired hand, was considerably shocked at caste and class barriers in European lands which make it difficult for men to better their lot. Summing up his memories of Europe's distressed, he said:

"They can't understand why we were so lucky to have been born here and they so unlucky to have been born in Europe."

He told with a look of wonder on his face of hungry Germans searching potato fields that had already been harvested.

"They pick up potatoes no bigger than a pea," he said. "But I suppose when one is hungry he'll pick up anything."

Dethmers said the English farmers generally were trying to deal honorably through regular trade channels, but that in France the farmers attempted to sell their entire crop on the black market. But the French have thrown in the towel compared to the English. The French beg for help and make no bones about it. The English still have their pride. They say, "we'll get along," and they ae the thought of charity.

New Comintern Not Against U. S. Daily Worker Protests

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, said today in an editorial that the new nine-country organization (reputedly the Comintern revived) formed in Europe by the Communists was not anti-American but aimed at American "big business."

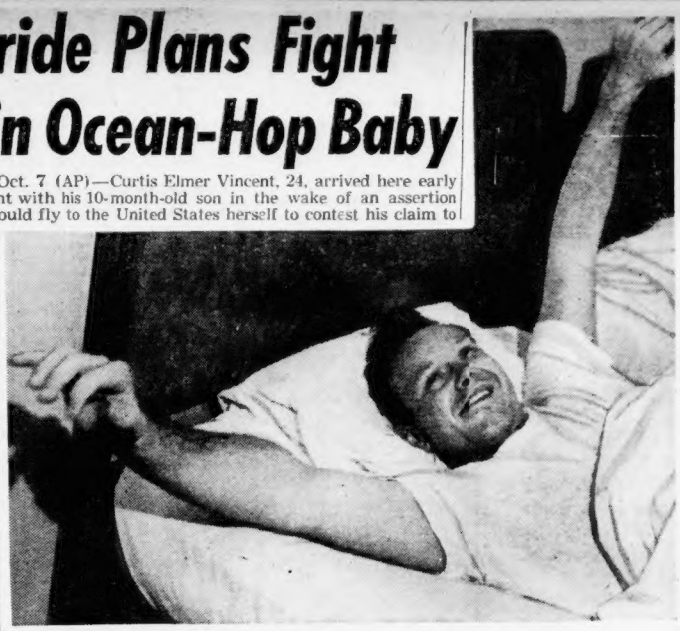
"Europe is resisting the Taft-Hartley foreign policy as the American trade unions are resisting the Taft-Hartley domestic policy," said the editorial, which was headed 'Anti-Wall St. —Not Anti-U. S.'

"To call such resistance to big business 'anti-American' is as false when applied to Europe as it is when applied to American labor," the editorial said.

The newspaper also said the State Department was intervening "against the independence of other nations" and added that American people should "welcome this overseas resistance to the same crowd which is rooking him and his family and trying to wreck his unions and democratic liberties."

English Bride Plans Fight To Regain Ocean-Hop Baby

GREENSBORO, N. C., Oct. 7 (AP)—Curtis Elmer Vincent, 24, arrived here early today after a transatlantic flight with his 10-month-old son in the wake of an assertion by his English wife that she would fly to the United States herself to contest his claim to custody of the child.



The former U. S. Infantry corporal said the plane ride across the Atlantic was fine and that he and his dark-haired brown-eyed son were in fine shape.

He declined to discuss details of his departure from his estranged wife, Mrs. Madge Vincent, whom he married in Leeds, England, in December, 1945.

He told newsmen, however, that he would "fight any action" his wife might take to regain custody of their child, Van Melvin.

In London, Mrs. Vincent said she was "trying everywhere to see what legal action" she could take. She said that if necessary she would divorce her shoe salesman-husband and fly to the U. S. in an effort to regain custody of her son.

She said she gave the child to Vincent Sunday and that on leaving for a walk her husband had told her, "I'll see you later," but that was the last she saw of him.

Vincent said he arrived in New York yesterday morning and then proceeded by train to Greensboro.

"Everyone asked if I could take care of a young baby on such a long trip," the father said, "and I told each person that obviously I could—I was doing it.

"I had a week's supply of dried milk and two dozen diapers. Now there are only six diapers left—and I changed them all myself."

He said his mother, Mrs. Clora Vincent, with whom he lives here, plans to help him in rearing Van Melvin.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Madge Vincent of Leeds said she would consult the United State vice-consul in Bradford today in an effort to regain custody of her 10-months-old son, Van Melvin.

Fr. Shaughnessy Dies in Concord

Rev. William F. Shaughnessy, pastor of Our Lady Help of Christians Church, West Concord, since 1932, died in the rectory there today.

The office for the dead will be celebrated Thursday at 4 p. m.

A mass for children of the parish will be sung Friday at eight o'clock, with a solemn high mass or requiem at 10 o'clock celebrated by Rev. John J. Starr of St. Agatha's, Milton.

Fr. Shaughnessy was born in Brighton, March 3, 1882, prepared for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and was ordained in 1909 by Bishop Matthew Brady. His first assignment was St. Joseph's Church in the West End, two days after he was ordained. Before becoming pastor of Our Lady Help of Christians Church, he served at St. Patrick's, Watertown; St. John's, Peabody; St. Matthew's, Dorchester, and Immaculate Conception, Weymouth.

Bartender's Theft Puzzles Judge

Judge Elijah Adlow of municipal court was somewhat puzzled today.

Dressed with the rich conservatism of a banker, John Costello, 45, identified as a bartender for a Dartmouth st., Back Bay, cafe, had just admitted a finding of guilty to a charge of larceny of a $110 overcoat from a downtown department store.

Before imposing a three-months suspended sentence, Judge Adlow asked:

"Why should a bartender steal a novercoat? They're doing pretty well. Their customers are in here all the time."

And he glanced briefly at 30 glum individuals in the dock, all brought in for drunkenness.

Speedy Trial for Killer Of Young Billerica Wife

Speedy trial for William H. Caselden, 45, accused as the slayer of Mrs. Roberta Coy Dunn, 24, at Billerica was promised today as Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson readied the case for grand jury action.

Thompson said all facts in the murder would be given the grand jury early next week. At the same time, State Police Lt. Daniel I. Murphy declared he did not believe the 215-pound Caselden's 20-page confession told "the whole story."

This opinion was expressed after Caselden pleaded innocent in Lowell court and was held by Judge Richard Walsh without bail for further hearing Oct. 14.

Meanwhile, Portland police disclosed that Caselden was arrested there in 1935 charged with attempted criminal attack on a Portland woman, but that the charge was changed to assault and battery after Caselden paid the woman $50 and she signed a release.

Caselden was taken to East Cambridge jail at the same hour that funeral services were being held for Mrs. Dunn in Billerica. Burial was in Fox Hill Cemetery, Billerica.

Meanwhile, Caselden's heartbroken wife, Lillian, was staying in seclusion at the home of her mother in Ellingwood ave., Billerica, where also were being cared for the alleged slayer's two young children.

When informed that her husband had confessed, Mrs. Caselden wept bitterly.

Mayoral Bids Top 11 Primaries

Although 150,000 voters were expected to go to the polls by nightfall in the primary elections being held today in 11 cities and towns throughout the State, there was little activity reported in the first few hours of voting this morning.

Candidates will be selected for the elections next month by voters of Springfield, Worcester, Somerville, Everett, Medford, Chelsea, Quincy, Fall River, Brockton, Gardner and Peabody.

Considerable interest was being focussed on the Somerville contest where Mayor G. Edward Bradley is seeking a third term in a five-man contest, which has as one of its field, former Mayor John M. Lynch.

Everett also has a five-cornered battle, with State Sen. Sumner G. Whittier, ex-Mayor James A. Roche, ex-Alderman James F. Reynolds, Rep. Fred C. Harrington, and Alderman Ralph E. Hughes, seeking the two places.

In Medford, Mayor Walter E. Lawrence is seeking re-election, and Mayor Bernard Sullivan, seeking a fourth term in Chelsea, has three rivals.

Mayor Charles F. Sullivan of Worcester is battling a field of three for the Democratic nomination.

VA Tightens Up On Overpaid Vets

More than 25,000 New England veterans who have failed to promise to reimburse the government for overpayments in education or training subsistence have been threatened with loss of unemployment compensation unless they make some move to repay.

This warning came in the wake of a Washington decision of the Veterans Administration that veterans may not reenter schools this fall or continue on-the-job training unless they make arrangements to return overpayments.

Local VA officials said that as of Aug. 31 there were 92,000 World War II veterans throughout New England receiving such checks, and of these 43,000 were attending schools and colleges. The remaining 49,000 were receiving on-the-job training checks.

It was stated that as of Aug. 31 there were 28,139 veterans in New England overpaid a total of $2,406,000. Of this number, 16,199 were Boston veterans overpaid $1,197,815.

Army Chiefs To Decide on Blue Uniforms

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (INS)—Top-level Army officials were reported today to be studying a special report prepared by the Quartermaster Corps recommending that the traditional khaki of Uncle Sam's soldiers be replaced by a blue uniform.

It was learned that the report, based on exhaustive tests and surveys during the past year, was submitted last week to the Army's general staff for consideration.

The Army said there would be no difference between the uniforms to be worn by officers and enlisted men except for insignia.

Army officials declined to say which of the four uniforms shown to troops last year was recommended, explaining that additions and substractions may be placed on the design by the general staff.

However, officials said results of the survey definitely show that officers and men alike want blue dress.

One high-ranking officers said he thought the Army would rule on the uniform by Nov. 1, but added that any possibility of outfitting the Army with the new attire in 1948 is remote.

The proposed "blues" would cost about $100 per man.

Seek Hardy Peach For Frigid Clime

DURHAM, N. H., Oct. 7 (AP)—The University of New Hampshire is looking for a hardy peach tree that will grow in temperatures as low as 20 degrees below zero.

Dr. A. F. Yeager, university horticulturist, already has bred a white peach from a hardy Russian strain that he believes may survive the freezing zone which now kills the fruit at about 15 degrees below zero.

The Russian variety, planted in the spring of 1945, has grown to more than eight feet in height and bore as much as a bushel of peaches per tree in a few cases this year.

BRISBANE, Australia, Oct. 7 (AP)—New Zealand flier H. B. Newton stepped from a baby plane today after a 16-day solo flight from Belgium and told newsmen:

"What's the fuss? There's nothing unusual in this."

Newton said he had been unable to get sea passage home from Belgium and went to work in an aircraft factory in order to buy his plane. He still has the longest hop of his homeyard flight ahead of him—1400 miles to New Zealand.

City's Bells to Hail Freedom Train

"Give a minute's thought to liberty and freedom" today became the slogan for the arrival of the Freedom Train this Saturday when all activities throughout the city are expected to halt for one minute at 12 noon while church and fire bells and ship's whistles join public address systems carrying transcribed radio broadcasts of the famous Liberty Bell.

The Freedom Train's arrival for two days of public inspection of the nation's most prized historic documents will mark the culmination of Rededication Week which will be climaxed by a four-pronged patriotic procession on the Boston Common parade ground Sunday.

More than 250 organizations representing memberships totaling over 100,000 will be in the line of march, according to John A. Breen, chairman of the Rededication Week committee.

AD CLUB TRIBUTE

The week's observance, set aside for a renewal of pledges to the American way of life, began yesterday when Act. Mayor Hines Breen and Peter J. Cloherty, acting director of public celebrations, paid tribute to John Hancock, Samuel Adams and Robert Treat Paine, three of the nation's founders, at their graves in the Granary Burying Ground.

Today the Advertising Club of Boston, at its regular meeting in the Hotel Statler, adds its tribute to the occasion when Cong. John W. McCormack, Democratic whip, delivers the first major address on the meaning of Rededication Week.

With McCormack at the head table will be Gov. Bradford, Acting Mayor Hynes, Chief Justice John P. Higgins of the superior court, high ranking members of the army and heads of the city's religious orders.

At 12:15 today a 30-minute service was set for the Old South Meeting House.

A town crier, equipped with the customary bell has been touring the city's streets with flyers inviting the public to attend the meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 tomorrow in Faneuil Hall, itself among the nation's most hallowed sites

WEEK'S HIGHLIGHTS

Other highlights of the week include a rally by the Business and Professional Women's Club at 8 p. m. Thursday in the Copley Plaza Hotel. There Vera M. Deane, research director of the Foreign Policy Ass'n, and Judge Jennie Loitman Barron will speak on the appreciation of civic rights and duties.

The Freedom Train, carrying such prescious documents as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, will be open to the public Saturday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. at North Station and during the same hours Sunday at South Station.

Other original freedom documents will be displayed in the rooms of the Bostonian Society in the State House. These include the "Mohawk" letter, the call for the second Boston Tea Party; Paul Revere's engraving of the Boston Massacre and an appeal for troops for Washington's army.

Among organizations participating in the patriotic procession are the National Guard, the Continental Color Guard, the Disabled American Veterans, numerous VFW, Amvets, American Legion, Jewish War Veterans and other veteran posts.

Democrats, Socialists Rout GOP in Connecticut Towns

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 7 (AP)—Socialists and Democrats celebrated important gains today as a result of municipal election in 137 Connecticut cities and towns, the Socialists scoring an overwhelming victory in the industrial city of Norwalk and Democrats increasing the number of communities in their control from 19 to 36.

The elections, viewed by Democrats especially as a test of how the electorate felt about the new sales and use tax, produced the first general balloting in the State since that levy was voted last spring by the Republican-controlled legislature.

Bristol, one of three cities electing Mayors, was among the 20 communities which switched from aRepublican to a Democratic regime and the Democrats retained their control in Torrington, the third city.

Norwalk, a city of 45,000 which recently was stirred by an investigation which developed charges of inefficiency in the municipal welfare dept., elected Socialist Irving C. Freese, 44, as its mayor, and put members of his party into every office at stake except one place on the 12-man city council.

Only two towns, Chester and Marlborough, were captured from the Democrats by the Republicans.

Political observers could not recall any previous strictly municipal elections in which the Democrats had made greater numerical gains.

It was in the small, rural communities that the Democrats made most of their gains.

Oxford elected a Democratic first selectman for the first time in history, and Ridgefield for the first time in 60 years.

In New Milford the Democrats are in power for the first time in 19 years, in Thomaston for the first time in 15 years, in Putnam for the first time in 13 years, 11 years in Stafford and 10 years in Tolland.

Attlee Gives King New Cabinet Plan

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee presented to King George VI today a plan for a large-scale cabinet shakeup which, it is said, may mark a crucial point in his career as Britain's crisis leader. It is expected the shakeup will be announced Wednesday morning.

Reported affected by the proposed shift are Fuel Minister Shinwell, blamed by political opponents for last winter's fuel crisis; Aneurin Bevan, left wing minister of health; aging Viscount Addison, minister of commonwealth relations; Minister of Supply John Wilmot; Defense Minister A. V. Alexander; War Minister F. J. Bellenger, and Viscount Hall, first lord of the admiralty.

Foreign Secretary Bevin, Minister of Economic Affairs Sir Stafford Cripps, Deputy Premier Herbert Morrison and Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton were not expected to be touched in the shakeup.

Jap Admiral to Die For Massacre of 1500

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 7 (AP)—A Dutch military court at Pontianak, Borneo, today sentenced Japanese V. Adm. Daigo Tadashige to death for authorizing the massacre of 1500 native men, women and children in West Borneo in 1944.

Witnesses testified at Tadashige's trial that at his orders victims were beheaded in groups of 100 by Japanese soldiers, who sometimes required three or four sword starkes to sever a head. Natives awaiting execution were forced to watch the killings.

Return of War Dead Inspires Hub Tribute Sunday, Oct. 19

In memory of those who most deserve to be remembered, Boston will pay tribute to the heroic dead of World War II with impressive memorial services in the Boston Arena and on Boston Common on Sunday, Oct. 19.

The tribute was inspired by announcement from the War Dept in Washington that bodies of the dead servicemen would be returned from the Pacific area to San Francisco next Friday, and those from the European area to New York on Oct. 26

A feature of the memorial will be a military procession to the Boston Arena, headed by units from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the Massachusetts National Guard, followed by post commanders of various military organizations, with the colors and color guards, from Boston's Metropolitan area.

The procession will start from the South Armory, Irvington st., at 2 p. m., proceeding along Huntington and Massachusetts aves. to the Arena in St. Botolph st., Back Bay, where indoor services will start at 3 p. m.

As the Arena exercises start, a wreath will be placed on the Boston Common plaque which honors the dead of World War II, as a feature of the outdoor service. Squadrons of planes from the Squantum base will fly over Boston Common and the parade route and over the Arena.

Tickets to the memorial service in the Arena may be procured, starting next Friday, at the Boston Arena, Boston Garden and the City of Boston Veterans' Office in the Buddies' Club on Boston Common.

Out-of-towners may obtain tickets by mailing their request, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to the Memorial Editor, Box 228, Boston, Mass.

With co-operation of the Hearst newspapers in Boston, leaders of all religious faiths, civic and military and veterans' groups and eminent citizens will join in this city wide memorial.

The disabled American Veterans have arranged for transportation of disabled veterans from various Greater Boston hospitals to the Arena services

Gov. Bradford is honorary chairman of the memorial, and Temporary Mayor Hynes is active chairman, aided by a committee of prominent community leaders.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (INS)—Mayor O'Dwyer announced that an impressive ceremony will honor the arrival in New York of the first American soldier dead of World War II from Europe

President Truman and the governors of the 48 states have been invited to take part when the Army transport Joseph V Connolly docks Sunday, Oct. 26.

Pearl Harbor Dead Due in Frisco Friday

Special to the Boston American.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 7—Victims of the Jap sneak attack on Pearl Harbor will return to the U. S. next Friday when their bodies are unloaded from the Army transport Honda Knot at Oakland Army Base.

To the Oakland base, a unit of San Francisco Port of Embarkation, falls the sad but honored task of dispatching to final burial places the bodies of those who gave their lives in the war with Japan.

Aboard the Honda Knot are 3014 bodies, the first to reach continental U. S. from military graves on Pacific isles.

All 11 major communities in the Oakland area will join in a minute of silent tribute at noon Friday.

There will be a public ceremony at the steps of Oakland City Hall, coincident with a nationally-broadcast ceremony from Marina Park in San Francisco.

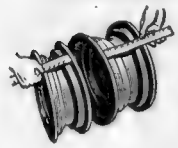
Softer Miles and Safer Miles

..Thanks to Buick's Safety-Ride rims

You sense it right from the first in the way your Buick handles.

You feel it not only in the cloud-soft ride of this big beauty, but in the way it seems to lean into the curves, the way it holds its "track," answers unfailingly to your touch on the wheel.

The reason? Simply that even before the war, Buick found a way to get greater softness and greater safety from standard-size tires that are available anywhere.



Put a Buick wheel beside a wheel from other cars, and you see at once that Buick rims are wider.

In fact, they are an inch to an inch and a half wider – from 20% to 33%.

By this simple step, standard-size tires of any make are given greater air capacity. This permits lower air pressure and the softer ride that naturally comes from traveling on 25 pounds instead of 30.

In addition, widening the base of the tires gives bracing against side-thrust, as your legs brace you when you stand with feet apart. This checks sidesway and the tendency of a tire to "roll under" on sharp or fast turns.

Furthermore, the tread is flattened. More rubber is put on the road. More rubber means more traction – more braking power – more resistance to skidding – far, far better car control.

And you have only to compare the handling of a Buick with any other car to see the result . . .

You travel with a soft, level buoyancy that is Buick's own.

You seem to feel your car leaning into the curves, like a race horse coming into the stretch, instead of swaying outward.

You come out of fast emergency swerves straight and true, with no wheel fight to keep your car on course.

You start, stop, accelerate and turn with a sure-footedness that keeps driving tension away, lets you enjoy Buick's soft comfort to the full.

And all this has been true of every Buick built since before the war, with no change in factory-installed tires.

Check up and see. For a softer ride that is also a safer and surer one – get your order in now for a Buick. We'll take it whether or not you have a car to trade.

Koreans Fear Red Invasion If U. S. Forces Withdraw

By RAY RICHARDS
Special to Boston Evening American

SEOUL, Oct. 7—The United States has a right to remain in Korea, but Russia has none because Russia did not fight Japan. Two rival main leaders of the South Korean people thus united in presenting a united front against the Soviet proposal for simultaneous withdrawal.

(Editor's note: The Soviet proposal was made by Col. Gen. Terentii F. Shtkov, chief of the Russian delegation to the joint American-Soviet Commission in Korea, who maintained that Korean independence can be achieved only if both occupational forces pull out by the beginning of 1948.)

Both leaders pleaded that the U. S. remain until a South Korean non-Communist government and an army of 500,000 are created to outmatch the north Red puppet establishment.

FEAR "RED" INVASION

Dr. Syngman Rhee, leader of all South Korean rightist parties under the new merger, and Kim Kiusic, middle road leader and a State Dept. appointee as chairman of the South Korean interim legislature, who have been quarreling politically, agreed that acceptance of the Russian proposal would mean that the North Korean puppets would roll down like a "Red lava" and make all Korea a Communist zone after a bloody civil war.

If the U. S. is "foolish and inhumane enough to leave," Rhee and Kiusic pleaded that arms be left for South Koreans to fight to the death.

However, highest American occupation and diplomatic authorities in Seoul privately say that the Koreans are unduly alarmed as the U. S. is certain to reject the Russian proposal.

Late information from behind the North Korean Iron curtain encourages belief that the Russians are having mounting difficulties in holding subject Koreans in line

REFUGEES INCREASE

Southward refugees jumped to 2000 daily recently, according to Pang Fung Mo, president of the Northwestern Korea Refugee Ass'n in Seoul.

Kiusic declared:

"We have been expecting this withdrawal proposal for a year. It indicates that Moscow believes the puppet government and army now are able to take over.

"The U. S. cannot morally pull out until this outrage of divided Korea has been rectified. But if the U. S. will give arms to rightist youth groups and some preliminary training, south Korea can have a defense army in six weeks.

"Give us weapons and the U. S. will not have to worry about Korea."

McCormack Urges Early Coal Purchase

Cong. John W. McCormack today urged Bay State householders to order their entire winter's supply of coal in order to circumvent a shortage which is expected to become acute in January and February.

He said that early ordering would mean that a maximum amount of coal could be shipped into New England before bad weather interferes with transportation.

NEW KIND OF TOOTHPASTE GETS TEETH 2½ TO 5½ TIMES BRIGHTER THAN ANY OTHER TOOTHPASTE!

It's not just another toothpaste...not just another old toothpaste with an added ingredient! Instead, it's an unmatched new kind of toothpaste with a formula that's completely new and radically different!

HERE'S a toothpaste that's really new! A toothpaste that really does more for you. It's amazing new Lyons Toothpaste—a toothpaste so much better for brightening teeth, it sets an all-time high standard for dental beauty.

When we say Lyons Toothpaste is better for brightening — far and away better — than any other brand, you can believe it. For the evidence is found in thousands of laboratory tests on scores and scores of individual teeth. These tests prove — conclusively — that new Lyons Toothpaste is better because they show beyond question that while cleaning teeth beautifully, it gets them brighter...2½ to 5½ times brighter ...than any other toothpaste!

Because the formula for Lyons Toothpaste is completely new and radically different, you'll find nothing to match this toothpaste — anywhere! It contains a new, patented cleansing agent -and a new, exclusive polishing agent.

HERE'S PROOF

Thousands of exhaustive laboratory tests were made to determine the degree of brightness which various toothpastes give to teeth. The bars in this chart, based on these tests, clearly illustate how much brighter new Lyons Toothpaste made teeth than any of the others. To maintain fair and impartial control, the tests were made on scores and scores of individual teeth, whose brightness was measured by meticulous electronic equipment. And they prove—prove beyond all doubt -that new Lyons Toothpaste gets teeth brighter ...far and away brighter...than any other toothpaste.

Therefore, it cleans beautifully ... polishes brilliantly ... and, strange as it may seem, cleans without soap—polishes without chalk!

So don't be content with a toothpaste that gives you less. Get the revolutionary new kind of toothpaste that does what no other toothpaste can do. Get new Lyons Toothpaste — and get more brightness in your smile!

Almost beyond belief! Cleans without soap! Polishes without chalk!

Turf Champion's Ban Revealed

A German stallion, himself a champion and the son of champions, is the pride and joy of the U. S. Army's Remount Station at Ft. Royal, Va.

But this foreign Man o' War, who won four races in six starts as a 3-year-old, including the German Derby, must remain in Virginia exile because the New York Jockey Club refuses to register him in the American Stud Book.

The amazing facts about this handsome beast and his rejection by the Jockey Club will be told in the article, "Nordlicht, the Wonder Horse," which will appear in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine distributed with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

What shall we do about Josef?

It's cold in the Displaced Persons camp. There's not much food . . . nor the right kind of food for a small boy like Josef and his kid sister, Sarah.

The last time Josef and Sarah saw their parents was when the Nazis bayoneted them. They'd have bayoneted the children, too . . . only they ran and hid.

After the flames had stopped crackling, and the smoke no longer blew about the village, Josef crept out of his hiding place, dragging Sarah with him. They were alive and uninjured physically. But what they had seen was not good for children their age.

Josef does not sleep soundly. He mutters and tosses . . . and sometimes he wakes screaming. In the daytime he mostly just sits and watches Sarah . . . and the look on his thin little face is the look of a bitter old man.

What are we going to do about Josef . . . and Sarah? We can feed them. We can clothe them. But what shall we do about the way their lips tremble and their eyes grow bigger every time they see a soldier?

These children need to be taken out of the desolation and misery of the DP camp. They need to go to Palestine, or America, or England or some other place—where they can forget the past.

Josef and his sister need to be shown that there are decent people in the world. They need to be tucked into bed and given a goodnight kiss . . . to sit in the protective glow of a family dinner table . . . to go to school . . . to learn to play once more . . . to smile and laugh and have treasured little possessions of their own.

Only one thing will make it possible to help Josef and other children like him—dollars. American dollars. YOUR dollars! UNRRA is liquidated. Inter-governmental aid has been reduced to a minimum. And that leaves it strictly up to you!

That's why it is imperative for you to contribute to the United Jewish Appeal. When you are asked to give, give generously . . . give sacrificially.

This is a year of greater need, because . . .

1. UNRRA's liquidation has placed greater burdens on the agencies of the United Jewish Appeal.
2. The Jewish population of the DP camps has trebled in one year . . . from 85,000 at the beginning of 1946 to 250,000 in 1947.
3. Rehabiliation efforts must be expanded to help hundreds of thousands in Hungary, Rumania, Poland and other countries.
4. Medical care and rehabilitation programs must be provided for the 170,000 surviving Jewish children, 26,000 of whom are in the DP camps.
5. Many thousands of Jews must leave Europe because they have no future there. Palestine must be built up and developed with UJA funds, to provide for those who are coming into Palestine now and those who will arrive in the future.
6. Many services, including migration, retaining adjustment and special aid for child refugees must be provided for displaced Jews who find a haven in the United States.

Theft Suspect Seized in Chase

A 26-year-old Roxbury man, captured in a chase by a store manager and volunteers, faced Roxbury court today in connection with a $15 cash register snatch from the F. W. Woolworth Co. store, Washington and Pond sts., South End.

The suspect was captured several blocks away on Dot ave. at Ft. Point channel by Raymond Plourde of Dale st., East Dedham, the store manager.

Plourde had battled the suspect in the store after a girl clerk screamed that the man had reached over, opened the register and grabbed $15.

SANTA SABOTAGE

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 7 (AP)—A psychiatrist, suggesting that parents stress honesty, today condemned the practice of teaching children there is a Santa Claus.

You can get just as much fun out of Santa by telling the truth, said Dr. Brock Chisholm.

Besides, telling your child the St. Nicholas legend and other myths are truths might handicap his thinking abilities.

Dr. Chisholm explained it this way:

"If the children think about it, they know there is no Santa Claus and that their parents are liars—so they don't think. It's too unpleasant."

Let the child know Santa is just a pleasant myth, Chisholm advised, and t[illegible]o ahead and play the ga[illegible] Santa Claus "and you and [illegible] children will get just as much fun out of it."

Solon Asks Merit Auto Insurance

Sen. Richard H. Lee of Newton has filed a bill in the Legislature for a new system of computing automobile insurance rates, similar to the merit rating system advocated before the Legislature in previous years.

Under its provisions, drivers would be assessed on the basis of their accident or driving records.

At the same time, Walter L. Roy, a member of the Saugus planning board, called on the board of selectmen to place adequate police patrols on the Newburyport turnpike and arrest drivers from out of town who are forcing Saugus motorists to pay "such ridiculous insurance rates."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ANY DISCUSSION of the 1948 election must revolve about the Republican party, as the Democrats will surely nominate President Truman, Henry Wallace notwithstanding. In fact, every day the significance of Henry Wallace pales more and more as our relations with Russia increasingly deteriorate and the Russians insult and infuriate the American people. Henry rides the wrong horse. The danger to the Republicans is that Vishinsky will force the American people to elect Harry Truman as an answer to Soviet Russia.

Sen. Taft

Sen. Taft has gained in stature by his Western trip. Americans like a courageous man who can take it like a sport. Whereas Tom Dewey is criticized for saying too little, Bob Taft is criticized for talking too much. But it is so obviously honest talk, so straight from the shoulder, so assertive of fundamental principle that it has gained him strength in unexpected places.

Whether Taft comes out of it the Republican candidate or not, he has asserted Republican leadership and he has been accepted. As a matter of fact, his leadership in the party is now unchallenged and any Republican candidate for the presidency will have to meet that reality.

GEN. EISENHOWER'S boom grows. He has elbowed out Harold Stassen altogether and is moving in on the margins of the Dewey strength. While Dewey has a following that is surely his, he also could count on votes in the convention from delegates who, while not wholeheartedly supporting him, accepted his nomination as inevitable. For a time this gave Dewey the appearance almost of a sure thing. The emergence of Eisenhower as a candidate has given these marginal delegates something to think about and considerable elbow room.

ON THE OTHER HAND, party leaders generally are not too enthusiastic about Eisenhower. They feel that they will be buying a pig in a poke. They know nothing about his philosophy of life. Some are now engaged in a most thorough fine-combing of his record to discover whether, in a campaign, Harry Truman and the Democratic National Committee could not explode a bomb that would destroy him. Taft's and Dewey's records have stood the scrutiny of years; Eisenhower has enjoyed the obscurity of a peacetime and the protectives of a wartime military officer.

The feeling is general among professional politicians with as matter in conventions that it is impossible to appraise Eisenhower's chances until after he becomes a civilian in January.

Meanwhile, the fact that Gen. MacArthur plans to return to the United States in April hangs like Damocles' sword over the politicians. No one can appraise the public receptivity of MacArthur. If he returns the beloved imperial pro-consul, whose march from San Francisco to Washington will be a triumphant festival, no one could possibly stop his nomination.

If the country greets him simply as another general back from the wars, his return will not matter. Certainly, Eisenhower's aspirations depend upon the public reception of MacArthur; both Taft and Dewey must take MacArthur into their calculations.

MEANWHILE THE REPUBLICAN National Committee approaches 1948 inadequately financed and not at all effectively organized. Money has not been forthcoming as expected. This is undoubtedly due to resistance to the New York, not to say, Wall Street affiliations of the collectors. Big Republican money is no longer in New York, and the Midwest and Western sections of the party, which are rich and strong, resent New York assumptions of leadership and authority. The money-raising activities of the Republican party, big givers tell me, must be revised or contributions will continue to be inadequate.

CONGRESSMEN OBJECT to the lack of support and assistance from the Republican National Committee and particularly to the deal whereby funds are collected by one agency and divided between national and local organizations. Some of the congressional candidates, up against the huge labor treasuries, fear that they may be left out in the cold. This is a matter that is actively being discussed during the current recess. Some congressmen will do their own money raising, by-passing the national committee and its collectors altogether. It is generally felt that the Republican party needs more leadership under 40, there are too many old men around.

Fall Fashions

Two Color

'Antwerp blue" and black make this Brownie-designed wool afternoon dress a fashion hit-parader. Blue is used in the skirt for front fullness and for the pointed neckline yoke, edged with gold. Black wool tunic, slit on the sides, is striking in simplicity.

Cocoa Shade

Buttons are a big part in playing up this original silhouette by Earl Luick for the Anna Miller collection. Black skirt drapery softening slim lines stems from the tunic like front of this cocoa colored wool dress. Over one shoulder and down-one side buttoning is characteristic of the Miller style.

Sitting in the Sun—The welcome return of Ol' Sol to these parts keeps Boston University students Nancy Shaw, Jean McLaughlin and Patricia Pelly out on the Liberal Arts School's steps until the last minute before classes start. They're from Weston, Danvers and Lynn, respectively.

Naval Aid—Mrs. Frances O Hagan (rear) Seattle widow and mother of five, was evicted, and set up housekeeping in a tent. Sand Point naval air sailors heard of her plight and immediately started to build a home for her and her children. Men volunteered work on their liberty time.

In Sweden It's the Law

Fearful

It's the law in Stockholm that every child must have his or her teeth properly cared for. But, it's a law that is decidedly unpopular among the younger set members, as witness this little miss sitting amidst the awesome dental apparatus. Sweden has had organized medical care since the 1700's.

Collapse—When the supports of a ramp at a Brooklyn terminal collapsed in the early morning hours, several freight cars crashed through some into the East river. Here's the daylight scene, with salvaging work under way.

OUST THE RED PROFESSORS

SPEAKING AT Northeastern University's 50th anniversary observance Sunday, United States Attorney General Tom C. Clark called upon Americans everywhere to rededicate themselves to religion and the deeper things of life.

His remarks were particularly appropriate, because, even while he was making them, nearly three million persons were assembled in another part of the city to watch the Holy Name Society procession, the greatest and most inspiring pageant of its kind in Boston's history.

Mr. Clark further warned that the Communist Party was about to launch a vigorous drive to recruit the youth of the nation, especially those attending colleges and universities.

"Don't let it succeed," he said; "don't sell America short, for you need have no fear of the future of America."

No college or university in the land should have to be reminded that its president and officers are patriotically and morally obliged to repel this latest Red Fascist invasion.

Without the protection of the Constitution and Bill of Rights, which the Communists are bent on destroying, every college and university would cease to be a free institution.

And without the constant financial support, which the American system of private enterprise has made possible, most colleges and universities would be forced to close their doors or, at least, to curtail their activities and services so drastically that mass education would be a thing of the past.

Harvard, Boston University and the various other private schools of their type and standards receive tax exemption and numerous direct and indirect favors from the State and municipal governments on such an increasingly large scale that none of them can honestly divorce its affairs from those of the people as a whole.

Consequently, any school which persists in harboring Communists, Fellow Travelers or other individuals who misinterpret liberty as a license to preach and plot against the American form of government is ABUSING THE PEOPLE'S CONFIDENCE AND PROVING ITSELF UNWORTHY OF IT.

Let the Red professors go to Soviet Russia, despite their understandable reluctance to spend much time there.

The overwhelming majority of the people in Massachusetts will not tolerate their presence much longer in this Commonwealth.

INCONSISTENT

WHY DOES the United States Government have one code of ethics for foreign nations and a wholly different code for its own nationals?

During the past quarter-century the United States Government has allowed the various countries of Europe and Asia to take and keep more than a hundred billion dollars of the American people's money and to break agreements and violate promises with an abandon that would thoroughly discredit and probably imprison any private citizen who behaved similarly.

In spite of this too-well-known record of tolerated repudiation, the Veterans' Administration is currently threatening to stop unemployment payments to former students who received too much assistance while going to school under the GI Bill of Rights and declined to pay it back.

The Administration has also ruled that war veterans may not re-enter schools or job-training programs this Fall unless they make good such overpayments.

This may be efficient bill-collecting, and it might recover a few millions to lighten the taxpayers' burden.

But it would be much more practical and beneficial if it were applied at the same time, and with the same uncompromising firmness, to the habitual debt welchers abroad.

I gave you all my heart, Maud,
'Tis needless to confess,
And did you give me yours, Maud?
O darling tell me "yes."
'Tis sad to starve a love, Maud,
So worshipful and true;
I know a little cottage, Maud,
Quite large enough for two
And if you'll be my wife, Maud,
May you ever bless,
Through all your sunny life, Maud,
The day you answered "yes."

—JOHN GODFREY SAXE.

SHOULD ANY bachelor client wish to make use of the above, he could substitute the name of the object of his affections for "Maud." It will read just as well.

PASSING BY: Dorothy Ross, Night spot entertainer. A gay singer of mischievous songs. Dorothy is still rendering the quaint ditty "The Handsome Young Dentist in Room Seventeen" . . . Adolph Zukor, Film pioneer. He and Marcus Loew started in the amusement business together as the owners of a penny arcade on East 15th st., New York city. That was in 1903. In 1912, Adolph became a film producer. His first picture starred Sarah Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth." His second, James K. Hackett in "The Prisoner of Zenda." If you recall those two films I think I can get you into the Young Old-Timers, providing you remember Mary Pickford in "Rags." Incidentally, Mr. Zukor still thinks the last named the greatest picture he ever produced.

Mary Pickford

THE AMBIDEXTROUS British surgeon, Dr. William Lodge, says everybody should be able to use their right and left hands equally well. He says most people could if they practiced. I have always thought an ambidextrous baseball pitcher of major league caliber would be a great box office attraction. He certainly would give the batters or the opposing team an irritating afternoon. Imagine being at bat and not knowing whether the pitcher is going to throw the next ball with his right or left hand!

HORSES & WOMEN: The ideal feminine measurements are said to be a 34-inch bust, 24-inch waist, 34 inches around the hips. Hurry! Apply the tape measure to your wife's form. Maybe she has an ideal figure and you can enter her in the next Mrs. America contest. Perhaps she could win it. Then she would get a movie offer, make $5000 a week and could keep you as a pet. To keep yourself busy, you could write a column titled "My Day. The Life of a Hollywood Husband."

BRIEFLY: Seventy-five per cent of women marry the first man who ask them. Young widows get the most marriage proposals. But they are not inclined to accept the first one. They shop around a little. So claims a student of life among the married . . . Nieman Marcus, world famous Dallas, Tex., store, recently advertised for sale: "One pair of matched diamonds. Price $500,000 including tax."

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—I claim the mother of Marconi, the inventor of the wireless telegraph, was an Irish girl born in County Mayo. Am I right? A—Marconi's mother, whose maiden name was Annie Fenwick Jameson, was born in Ireland but not in County Mayo. She was born in Dublin. She met Guiseppe Marconi when both were students of music in Bologna, Italy. Q—Why is it women can't read railroad time tables? A—They can read them all right when they have to. When a man is with them, they pretend they can't read the timetable. That's to make the man feel clever and like a sturdy oak because he can, or, so say our horses & women experts.

LOST DOGS: Saw a little white dog wandering worriedly around last night apparently looking for his master or mistress. A pathetic sight. As the sympathetic poet put it:

Of all sad sights in this world of sin
The saddest is that of a little lost pup
With his tail tucked in.

However, the saddest lost dog I ever saw was not a little one. He was a huge St. Bernard. A friend of mine had taken him in, fed him and put him in a dog pen, while an effort was made to find his folks. That great, big dog was really depressed. Such sad eyes I have never seen. I thought any minute he was going to burst out crying.

CLEVER MACHINES: Now there is a vending machine that retails a cup of coffee for a nickel. This remarkable machine makes it possible for the buyer to have cream or sugar as he wants it. There is also a vending machine that retails hot dogs. Would seem, if you put a coffee and a hot dog machine side by side you really would have a profitable proposition. I have always been interested in vending machines. I am going to look into these two. Coffee and hot dog vending machines might be a better proposition for me than that chain of hamburger stores I have been thinking of.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—At the end of the first big war there was so little territory left in the United States in which prize-fighting and racing were permitted that one could say that these old, disorderly pleasures had been reduced to little pockets of resistance.

Westbrook Pegler

Prize-fighting had been illegal even in Chicago, which always has been a tough town, ever since 1903 or thereabouts.

I am not a buck ingenue, myself. As a scrawny little sprout in Excelsior, Minn., I had goggled at the scratchy, flickering movies of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight taken in Carson City, Nev., in 1897.

Incidentally, this fight had been chivvied all over the wild and woolly West of that day because the hardy frontiersmen regarded it as an obscene proceeding, and a retreat toward the twilight of the dawn of civilization.

IT FINALLY LANDED in Carson City when the Governor of Nevada gave it refuge for the sake of the money it would attract, but with something of the air of the minister who buried the actor from the Little Church Around the Corner.

There were other films of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons event which toured the little circuit of fire-trap town halls and they were very advanced entertainment. The programs otherwise were magic-lantern shows.

My acquaintance with the fight picture came about the winters of 1902 and 1903. The emulsion was flaking off by then and the gladiators under the desert sun looked as though they were fighting in a paradoxical blizzard.

By the time we moved to Chicago in 1904, I had been seriously corrupted by this experience and, even at the age of 10, sniffed the air in vain for the tang of the resin box and the reek of rub stuff.

There was a sallow elevator boy in the oscillating cage at the old Chicago American on Madison st. who called himself Chicken Duffy.

He used to fight "in private" as the phrase went on the sport pages, which meant in the palm-rooms behind saloons and in a barn near Aurora where the sheriff appears to have been not exactly priggish.

Tad Dorgan, the sport page cartoonist, came barnstorming to Chicago once and covered a fight in this barn around 1904 and drew pictures of an amazing bantamweight named Young Izzo, who knocked out a lightweight. He predicted that Young Izzo would have a fine future, but I never heard of him again.

MY DETAILS WILL be faulted because most of such memoirs are matters of unverified recollection, but I believe the police had stopped prize-fighting in Chicago because of some mockery enacted by Joe Gans for the enhancement of Terry McGovern in a hall on Wabash ave. called Tattersalls.

Guns quit and a city which walked up to its eyes in sin, with two reservations frankly and almost legally devoted to vice and with gambling houses right upstairs along Madison and Clark sts., was so indignant that the incorrigible sport was forbidden—forever.

Chicago actually was a frontier town, although we would have resented any such opinion, the more so from a New Yorker. We had an elevated railway which was a marvel to thousands of rubes from the plains and the Masonic Temple was 21 stories high with a heavy metal screen across the lobby to protect the innocent from suicides.

Racing had been forbidden long ago. I am not sure I ever learned why. It was just a historic memory as bear baiting might have been recalled vaguely by a few cackling old liars in England about then.

NEW YORK TOLERATED prize-fighting under a statute called the Frawley law, permitting 10 rounds but forbidding decisions so that the displays could truly be viewed as sparring matches for the physical benefit of the culprits and the cultural profit of the esthetes around the arena.

The "decisions" were given by the sport writers and a majority of the newspaper opinions prevailed in the settlement of bets except when there was a particular agreement to abide by the decision of one, three or five individual journalists.

There was low and doubtless erroneous gossip that gamblers sometimes coiled their slimy tentacles around the cornerstone of free journalism in this connection, but I wouldn't believe that.

NEW JERSEY FORBADE fighting and racing. Philadelphia tolerated six-round, no-decision fights. We had eight-rounders and decisions in St. Louis, but the decisions were given by Harry Sharpe, the referee, who worked for the Post Dispatch and reserved his verdicts for his own column the next day.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7—I believe David Selznick has a terrific idea in his plan to buy up legitimate theaters around the country for his stars to appear in when not working.

Dorothy Maguire

I mean not only such top flight favorites as Jennifer Jones, Joseph Cotten, Gregory Peck, Shirley Temple, Dorothy McGuire, Valli, Louis Jourdan and Guy Madison, but some of the newer Selznick contract players.

Too often movie people go out of town unprepared for personal appearances and make a bad impression. Selznick very wisely figures that these face-to-face appearances will build popularity for his stars, if they have a proper vehicle and at the same time give them added experience.

Mel Ferrer will direct the plays and I am told that the first theater to be bought is in San Francisco, where Gregory Peck is already appearing in "Angel Street."

JUST BEFORE Eddie Robinson took off on location for "All My Sons," he had a meeting with Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall, and John Huston with the result that when Eddie gets back, he is going to put his valued signature to a contract for "Key Largo," the next Bogart picture.

If Eddie wanted to, he could work every day and every night, all seven days in the week. There's always a part in a movie at every studio for him it seems, and he hasn't done badly free-lancing.

ANYONE WHO KNEW Marilyn Miller, knew of her friendship and many years of liking for Jack Donahue who was with her in all her plays on the Ziegfeld stage.

Now I'm told that a contract is pretty apt to be signed with 20th for Dan Dailey to play Donahue. He would be perfect, and since June Haver plays Marilyn and makes three other pictures for Warners, it seems very likely that Dailey will be borrowed. The only reason they wouldn't let them have him would be if they needed him on his home lot.

Take it from me, Dailey is hot since "Mother Wore tights."

THE WAY Laura Lee Michaels nabbed the important child's role in Leo McCarey's picture, "Good Sam," may or may not be a tip to other moppets looking for jobs.

Laura Lee had been waiting for ages on the set with 20 other little girls her age while Leo took his time getting around to interviewing them. Finally, the little girl could stand it no longer and so she marched up to Leo and said, "Well, do I get this part, or don't I?"

Leo, flabbergasted, but admiring her spunk, replied, "Honey, you've got it."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Rumor certainly spreads — especially when it concerns a star. Ingrid Bergman, who has had the sniffles for a few days, canceled the telephone interview between here and Sweden, because she was afraid she couldn't be heard.

Literally in hours came a query from the Stockholm News Service to Walter Wanger, asking for a confirmation of a report that was in Sweden that Miss Bergman was desperately ill and fighting for her life.

Now I ask you!

WHAT MIGHT have been an awfully bad break for Jacques Francois, French movie actor, when Louis Jourdan was available for "Letter From an Unknown Woman," has developed a happy ending.

Jacques, 23-year-old, tall, blonde, was to have been imported for the lead opposite Joan Fontaine when everyone thought Jourdan would not be free. He was.

But one look at Francois' test and he was given the sign to come on to Hollywood—he arrived over the week-end. Jacques speaks English with an accent but that hasn't hurt Charles Boyer, Jean Aumont or Louis Jourdan.

FORTUNATELY, Bill Perlberg has enough sense of humor to laugh at this one on himself and to tell it. Ernst Lubitsch decided to frame Bill when he came back from England, and get an extra, done up as a titled Englishman, and introduce him to Bill, who had sounded off a little on the tax situation.

Someone tipped Bill off, and when he walked into the 20th Century-Fox dining room, there was a titled Englishman sitting next to Lubitsch. Never did a guy get such a cold shoulder and such churlish treatment.

The payoff is that Bill was introduced to a bona fide English lord, by the name of Sir Sydney Clift. But later they became very good friends when the joke was explained.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD Collected at Random: Sonja Henie gave Mike North ice skates just before he took off for New York. Is that his cue to skate in, or out, of her life?

Sonja Henie

Those gams of Bing's will be on display again in "Connecticut Yankee." He revealed them first in "Emperor Waltz" Rita Hayworth, Marlene Dietrich, et al.—move over.

Gail Russell was at the Seacombers with John Dahl. Another Seacomber diner was Lawrence Tierney, celebrating his birthday with his family. Apparently, his romance with Vivi Stokes is dead.

Groucho Marx tells me that none of the big stars have played the veterans hospitals in the San Francisco area for a year and a half. He and Mrs. M. fly up for a five-day tour of the hospitals — and he's hoping others will book themselves in after him.

Don Gallery, son of Zasu Pitts, was at the Somerset House with Joyce Reynolds.

Is Fred Astaire getting bored with his retirement? Anyway, he'll be back in circulation for a radio appearance with Ed Gardner on "Duffy's Tavern" the end of the month.

No one will be surprised if Dennis Day and Betty Amquist say "I do" pretty soon. And I hear that Dennis has the inside track for the romantic lead in "Babes in Toyland" for Borros Morros.

Pola Negri has completed her autobiography and will leave for Europe soon to make a picture.

The deal Olivia De Havilland is closing with a recording company gives her $20,000 an album and a percentage of the sales for reading some of the Edgar Allen Poe stories.

There's a whisper that the movie just completed by a top singing star has been shelved but I wouldn't be knowing for sure.

John Carroll's new chick is Marilyn Monroe, 20th actress.

Marsha Van Dyke, a relative of the late Woody Van Dyke, has signed an acting contract at MGM where he was a top director for so many years.

I never think of Roddy McDowall as grown up—but he's having dates with Ann Blythe—who is. They were an attractive youthsome at Victor's.

THAT'S ALL TODAY. See you tomorrow.

Broadway's Voice

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—The domestic One of me rejoices in the thought of that recent news item about the free movies which are about to be shown at supermarkets in key cities.

Dorothy Kilgallen

As I understand it, the backers will be out to revive the dime-a-peep business as she passes in review reruns from bakery to bathtub and I consider this a trade experiment as well as one very likely to pay dividends. High time the distaff side of the family had a little fun along with drudgery! . . . And can you imagine the kitchen conversations if this cornflakes-and-cinema system catches on? Mrs. Jones will phone Mrs. Smith and announce that she's set to make the matinee at Gristede's that afternoon, Mrs. Smith will reply in the tones of the supercilious hepster, "Big my dear, Humphrey Bogart is playing at the A & P—and they have a sale on soap chips, too!" . . . I want to be around when it happens. Think of trotting down to the market for half a pound of butter—and Gregory Peck!

PUBLICITY, as anyone who has received more than a few lines in a lifetime can tell you, has a way of catching up with its subject. Ask Phil Silvers. In a recent article I mentioned him as one of the facile wits of the local scene, and while he was appreciative of the compliment, he now admits his reputation is beginning to be somewhat of a strain. His friends wait with unconcealed impatience for him to pull an elaborate gag, bend their ears in expectation of scintillating hilarities, and expect him to order ever, a cup of coffee with an epigram . . . Theater owners in New York occasionally utter loud complaints about the state of the drama and the reluctance of cash customers to patronize the flicker houses as regularly as they ought, but actually these local fellows have very little cause for complaint. Let them meditate on the case of the theater owner in Minneapolis whose business is so bad he rents out the theater afternoons as a funeral parlor!

I HOPE SOMEDAY someone will explain to me (or even better, perform for me) the "Chinese tunnel." A lady of my very slight acquaintance wandered into a Chinese shop on the East Side the other day, dazed by pairs of shoes, and didn't blink when the bill came to $700. (Walk much? . . . Anyone who wonders if working is a lucrative profession might steal a quiet glance at John Steinbeck as he boasts homes in New York, Hollywood, Los Gatos, Mexico, Key West and abroad . . . Joe E. Lewis must be thinking of running for president. He now owns a very large piece of a prospering haberdashery business . . . I thought I'd heard everything and then a strolling expert on current trivia informed me that Ralph Watkins of the Royal Chicken Roost on Broadway has purchased a flying rooster, which is being trained to carry checks to patrons tables in its beak!

KAY KYSER'S new album "Campus Favorites," should make old grads and current undergrads happy. He's done the fight song and alma mater song of seven universities as legitimately as possible, using a modern technique. Some of the arrangements will make alumni cry happily into their beer . . . I am on the side of the mother of one of Gotham's best known debutantes who has forbidden her daughter to participate in today's bubble gum blowing contest at the Little Club. Imagine raising a daughter by the church, finishing school and the best people method only to drop into a motion picture theater and see her allowing a wad of gum to burst in her face for the newsreels! . . . Feature editors ought to do a piece on Michael Fielding, the long-hair artist who turned Tin Pan Alley denizen. Now he composes pop tunes—on the $75,000 Stradivarius he used when he was first violinist with Leopold Stokowski.

I SUPPOSE a psychologist would have an explanation for the fact that more women than men stand in line to see Jane Russell in "The Outlaw." Probably it's a kind of narcissistic curiosity. They want to see what she's got that they haven't as if they didn't know . . . Who says there's no meat around? The new Manhattan telephone directory lists 118 Hamburgers, five Frankfurters and—if you want the trimmings—nine Mustards and 15 Rolls. I note that the latest fad on Bishop Alley, Swing Street to you, is the wearing of Benjamin Franklin type horn-rimmed glasses by the goatee set. It gives them that cerebral, owlish look of wickedness for which they all strive so hard.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 — Secretary of the Air Force W. Stuart Symington was telling a small group of symptom-lovers about his recent operation for high blood pressure.

Mr. Symington went on to say that the operation constituted an amazing coincidence; that an absolutely identical piece of surgery had been performed in the same hospital, by the same surgeons, a few weeks before on his closest friend, Postmaster Gen. Hannegan.

Mr. Symington's beautiful wife, Evie, was not paying too close attention to the recital, probably having had complete suture-by-suture descriptions previously. But suddenly she perked up because her husband was saying:

"It was an amazing series of coincidences all down the line, not only were Bob Hannegan and I in the same hospital but we were in the same room with the same nurses."

IT MUST BE A SOURCE of great satisfaction to the distinguished free-loaders who swilled champagne at the French Embassy the other afternoon to know they were doing their bit for France.

The eminent tosspots were assured of this personally by Mme. Bonnet, wife of the French Ambassador. In announcing the reception, she said:

"We will serve only champagne and orange juice. You see, when we have champagne we send dollars back to France to be spent on the things the French need. When we serve whisky, the dollars stay in this country. So, when you take a drink of our champagne you can know you are doing a small bit for France."

I TRUST that Mme. Bonnet's stand against whisky will not cause complications with Scotland, for which I was doing a small bit for last night. Her attitude might be construed by some as a rabid nationalism. Or, to paraphrase "Annie Laurie". —"Maxwellton's brews ain't Bonnet - "

Unfortunately I didn't know, but this card, signed "Jim and Elsa Stack" has just arrived:

"If we owe you anything skip this. If not, our new address is 622 North 4th st., Tacoma, Wash."

ADDS THE GALLANT old colonel: "Everything is wonderful here. I liked Washington, but I'd rather be a big toad in a small puddle."

Personally I'd rather not be a toad at all.

IT SEEMS ALMOST unbelievable in view of the Congressional penchant for junketing. But the proposed European trip of the Senate Armed Services Committee was called off because not enough committee members would go.

The committee chairman, Sen. Edward V. (as in Vivian) Robertson, of Wyoming, revealed that all but he and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, had cancelled out.

Sen. Robertson was justifiably irked because he had gone to a lot of trouble. He had personally called the State Department's division of protocol to inquire whether he should take a dinner jacket.

Protocol advised him that a dinner jacket may be mandatory at state dinners in France and other European countries but that it could give no assurance he would get any dinner on the war-devastated continent. Naturally, this left him in a terrible quandary.

After days of vacillation during which he debated whether he would look out of place in a dinner jacket in a bread line, he finally decided to pack one. I often wonder whether people appreciate the many problems of a Senator.

But the hardest hit of all by the cancellation was Sen. Olin D. Johnston, who is not a member of the committee at all. He had decided to go along for the ride.

He betook his senatorial frame down to the U. S. Public Health Service and got himself pumped full of serum shots for smallpox, tetanus, yellow fever, and practically every other ailment except a Republican majority.

Now—poor fellow—he's got all this serum in him and not a single contagion around to defy.

Deed Island employes and inmates will have fish instead of meat today and macaroni instead of poultry Thursday, Penal Comr. Maxwell Grossman said. At Long Island Hospital meat was removed from menus and bread allotments were cut, according to Dr. James V. Sacchetti.

SALTONSALL'S QUERY

George J. Cronin, State purchasing director said all State institutions would observe the program to save food.

One discordant note came from Sen. Saltonstall who asked an explanation about 200,000,000 dozen eggs, either dried or frozen, which the Dept. of Agriculture has in storage.

In a letter to Charles Luckman, chairman of the President's Citizens Committee, Sen. Saltonstall wrote:

PREDICT WASTE

"I for one certainly want to know just why the United States government owns all these eggs. I hope these eggs will be released as speedily as possible for the benefit of the consuming public."

While hotels and restaurants were indicating they would fall in line with the food conservation program, grocers, meat, poultry and egg dealers questioned the practicability and predicted it would waste more food than it saves.

"We may wind up with a far greater degree of waste with such a plan than without it," said Malcolm McCabe, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Ass'n.

Spokesman for the poultry and egg dealers said he doubted if the plan for poultryless and eggless Thursdays would have much effect on either consumption or production. Fishermen were the only food dealers not affected, and they declared there was plenty of fish and little likelihood of price increases.

Truman Program Gets 1st Meatless Day Test

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (INS)—President Truman's food conservation program got its first real test today in the nation's degree of cooperation in a voluntary meatless Tuesday.

It was learned, meanwhile, that at least one member of the 26-man Citizens' Food Committee suggested to his colleagues that they consider the possibility of recommending butterless and dessertless days.

The President himself will lead the American people in observing a no-meat day.

The government scored a major victory on another front in its food program.

The Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis grain exchanges announced that margin requirement on grain futures trading have been raised to 33 1-3 per cent as requested by the President.

Prices dropped in nearly all important commodity exchanges. Butter dropped its full limit of three cents a pound at Chicago, and eggs followed suit by falling off the full two cents permitted in a single day's trading.

Cheese, Salmon Feature Truman Meatless Menu

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (INS)—President Truman and his family today observed the first "meatless Tuesday" by eating cheese souffle for lunch and salmon steak for dinner.

On Thursday, first "no poultry, no eggs" day, the White House family will have stuffed peppers for luncheon and baked ham for dinner.

The menus were prepared by Mrs. Mary E. Sharpe, the President's housekeeper, and announced by Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens' food committee. They are:

TUESDAY LUNCH—Grapefruit; cheese souffle, buttered peas, grilled tomatoes and chocolate pudding.

TUESDAY DINNER—Clear chicken soup, broiled salmon steak, scalloped potatoes, string beans, sauted eggplant, perfection salad and sliced peaches.

THURSDAY LUNCH—Corn soup, peppers stuffed with rice and mushrooms, lima beans, glazed carrots and a baked apple.

THURSDAY DINNER—Melon balls, baked ham, baked sweet potatoes, asparagus, cauliflower, green salad and a coffee mallow.

Breweries Tripled Use Of Wheat in 3 Months

WASHINGTON, Oct 7 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau reported to day Breweries used almost three times as much wheat and wheat products in July and August this year as in the same months of 1946.

To help the save-food drive, beer industry leaders said Saturday they would recommend the nation's 450 breweries eliminate use of wheat along with table-grade rice, and release all wheat stocks on hand or contracted for.

As a part of the fire prevention week program, Fire Commr. Russell F. Codman today announced that a Dorchester girl, and a Roxbury boy had been named Junior fire commissioners.

The pair, both winners in the recent letter writing contests on how to prevent fires, are: Georgia Polezanow, 10, of Clarkson st., and Thomas Callahan, 13, of Parker st. The contest was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Rheumatic Pains?
take this sufferer's advice

Mr. I. K., Wilmington, Del.
Advises every one suffering from pain of Rheumatism—Arthritis—Sciatica—to try Rumal

He says, "God Bless You for RUMAL."

Mr. I. K. of Wilmington, Delaware writes: "For years I have suffered with agonizing pains of Rheumatism. Nothing seemed to help much. Then a friend of mine suggested that I try a preparation called Rumal. I was skeptical but I had nothing to lose so I sent for a jar. I tried it and am happy to say that I got relief from the very first application. It's a godsend to have Rumal in the house for when those awful pains strike, I'm prepared."

I don't care how long you have been suffering the agonies of rheumatic, arthritic, sciatic, neuralgic pains—I want you to try a remedy that is really good.

It must be good, for it has been bringing blessed palliative relief to thousands of sufferers since 1919—over 26 years.

And the best part is that you don't risk one penny in trying Rumal — you can't lose—only gain by doing it.

Rumal is a compound of 5 powerful ingredients widely known to the medical profession as fast pain relievers.

You apply Rumal as directed to the painful area. Soon you feel a glowing, soothing warmth as the pains disappear fast.

Trials at Hunt Club

INDIAN SUMMER WEATHER and the colorful touches of Jack Frost's artistry on the autumn foliage made a picturesque setting for the Norfolk Hunt Club hunter trials at Medfield.

Many horse lovers attended the all-day exhibition of riding and jumping by members of the outstanding hunt clubs hereabouts, and lunch time was turned into a party for landowners around Norfolk who allow the hunters to ride over their property.

A picnic of hearty sandwiches, ice cream, brownies, cocoa and coffee was served on the steeplechase course for the neighboring farmers and exhibitors.

Katharine Winthrop

Outstanding winners of the day were Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr., of Cambridge, MFH of Milford Hunt Club, Mrs. Sherwin Badger and Charles H. Wood of Norfolk, Charles G. Rice and Paul Fox of Myopia, Miss Nina Bohlen of Dedham and George Lewis 3d of Norfolk.

Mrs. Hall added three trophies to her already imposing collection of winnings in other shows. She won both the ladies' hunter class and the lightweight hunter class on her horse War Trouble. Riding Glenny Lad she won the silver tray presented for the best Millwood hunter.

Mrs. Badger on Cabby and Mr. Wood riding Tis So won the Country Club cups for the best pair of hunters riding abreast over the steeplechase course. Mr. Rice and his horse Whichdale won the Myopia cup for the best hunter from that club and Mr. Fox was winner of the open jumping with Katharine Winthrop runner-up. Mr. Fox rode Cottage Chap and Miss Winthrop Broom Heath.

Nina Bohlen and her horse Anchors Aweigh were awarded the trophy for the best Dedham hunter and she was second in the junior jumping class won by George Lewis 3d, on Rodney.

In the final and most colorful event, for teams of three hunters ridden by the owners, Myopia was first with Millwood and Dedham runners-up. Myopia's team comprised Messrs. Frederick Ayer, George C. Clement and Charles G. Rice. Millwood's riders were Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr., Mrs. Nathaniel Hamlen and Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske. The winning trio from Dedham comprised Miss Helen Powers, Stuart Davidson and Theodore Whitney, Jr. The exhibitors and judges were entertained in the evening at a cocktail party and supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lewis of Medfield.

NOTES FROM A SOCIETY EDITOR'S CUFF: The day we met Caroline Ritchie registering the date of her coming out party at Bird's debutante salon we chatted about dates and parties with so many other debs we got our cuff notes mixed up. Seems we recorded Caroline's date as the 22nd instead of the 20th of December and she has received a flood of phone calls asking if she had changed her plans. So, to keep things up to date for the debutantes' social calendars, we hereby record that Caroline will make her debut at a luncheon Saturday, Dec. 20, at the beginning of her Christmas vacation from Wheaton.

It is still not too late in the season for a garden wedding in Virginia and Mrs. Mary Derby Davenport, former Boston deb, writes she is planning a garden ceremony for her marriage, Saturday, to George Worthington 4th of Chesterland, Ohio. The nuptials will be at the estate of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lawrence Derby, and Mrs. Robert Derby of Fairfield, Ct., will be matron of honor. Mrs. Davenport belongs to the Boston Junior League and Vincent Club.

THE RECENT lecture-recital of the N. E. Opera Theater Guild was an entertaining discussion of Mozart by Boris Goldovsky and well attended by musically and socially prominent Guild members. Mr. Goldovsky is director of the N. E. Opera Theater which will present a Mozart Festival at the Opera House Nov. 9, Dec. 21 and Jan. 18.

Heartily enjoying the Sunday lecture were Mrs. Thomas D. Cabot and her debutante daughter Linda who is a Radcliffe student, Mrs. K. Nelson Knudsen with Ann Knudsen and Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner Barker with daughter Marilyn. Also Miss Eleanor Brodie of Brookline chatting with Miss Ruth Perkins, Miss Helen S. Sanderson and Mrs. Fisher Danlevy; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arms Fisher, Mrs. Charles Flood, Miss Mabel Daniels, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. Wm. Dana Orcutt, a mink cape over her printed silk dress, Mrs. Byron G. Tosi, treasurer of the Guild, and Miss Gwen Armitage and Miss Dorothy Johnson of the Milton Academy faculty.

Staff of Life Important

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

THE "STAFF OF LIFE," these days more than ever before, is being called upon to help along a tired old food budget. And justly so, for not only is bread, as it has been for centuries, an important part in the world's food supply, but it can serve as a prominent ingredient in food preparation.

In these days we would do well to review the qualification of bread for playing this dual role. In looking at the basic values of bread, whether from the baker or your own oven, we find it has long provided a generous store of energy in its carbohydrates and in a form practically everyone enjoys. Now that breads are enriched, they contain those important B-vitamins and food mineral iron that put them into the class of protective foods.

All of these facts make breads an important item in our present budget-enforced meat-stretching program. If we cut down on meat we must of necessity turn to other foods that contain similar proteins. Eggs and milk serve as equivalents to meat proteins. Breads and other products in which enriched flour is used furnish "good" proteins.

WAYS OF USING BREAD

1—Hot open-faced sandwiches: Use sliced bread, plain, toasted or browned in meat drippings. Top with meat reheated in gravy, stew, vegetables or seafood, or eggs in sauce, cheese mixtures.

2—Croutons for soup: Toast in oven or fry small cubes of bread in fat until brown all over. If you like extra flavor, roll in powdered herbs, or add garlic or minced onion to fat. Serve on top of soups.

3—Stuffings: Use bread, fresh or dry, in stuffings for meat cuts with a pocket, for fowl or fish, or baked separately to accompany a meat dish.

4—Toppings: Use buttered bread crumbs, toasted or fried rounds, squares or triangles to top casserole dishes of many varieties. Use crumbs to cover scallops, macaroni and cheese, etc., and bread rounds as crusts on meat pies.

5—Desserts: Bread pudding is still popular. There are enough pleasing variations to suit every taste. Other desserts include steamed carrot pudding, fruit betty, and the like.

OLD FASHIONED BREAD PUDDING

2 cups dry ½ in. bread cubes
½ cup seedless raisins, washed
2 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, beaten ¼ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt 1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg 1 tsp. vanilla

Combine dry bread cubes and raisins. Add scalded milk to beaten eggs, sugar, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and vanilla; beat with a dover beater. Place bread and raisins into a well-greased 1½-quart casserole. Pour egg and milk mixture over bread and raisins. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour. Serve with lemon sauce. Makes 8 servings.

STUFFED HAMBURGER ROLL

2 cups (1 lb.) hamburger
(Reserve 2 tbsp. for stuffing)
1 egg 1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. marjoram or sage
Combine hamburger, egg, salt, pepper and marjoram.
½ tsp. pepper stuffing:
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. hamburger
2 tbsp. chopped onion
½ tsp. celery salt
Dash marjoram or sage
3 cups soft ½ in. bread cubes

Melt shortening in a skillet. Fry 2 tablespoons hamburger and onion until tender. Add water and simmer for 5 minutes.

LET IT RAIN! And who wouldn't garbed as fetchingly as this model in purple-violet elkskin? Clifford, designer for Del Mar Sportswear, has created a double-breasted raincoat in a new mood and a new fabric. The full back is belted, the waist is belittled, so that the rounded hips and curved pockets are high-lighted. The deep hood is detachable . . . R. M.

Add celery salt and marjoram. Combine with soft bread cubes. To make stuffed hamburger roll: Spread hamburger mixture on waxed paper and shape into a rectangular sheet. Top the layer of hamburger with a layer of bread stuffing, then roll as a jelly roll by lifting waxed paper and gently rolling meat away from it. Bake in a shallow pan in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 40 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Banish Worry Lines

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE EYES are telling a host of things these days. But, mostly, that women are concerned. Not that women haven't a right to be concerned . . . since upon their narrow shoulders fall the responsibilities as homemakers, mothers and world citizens.

But even though we are searching for the light in a civilization beset with many problems . . . as women, we must never let the light of loveliness leave our eyes. We owe it to ourselves to keep up appearance . . . a great morale booster in its own right. Any psychiatrist or psychoanalyst will tell you that.

Let any woman, down at the mouth . . . feeling mighty low . . . go out and get herself a new outfit, a new hairdo, a new makeup and she spruces up with rapidity that a mushroom comes into being overnight.

It still remains our womanly duty to be man's inspiration . . . to help keep his chin up, along with our own . . . and to look beautiful for the sake of his peace of mind. For what man likes to look at a sourpuss? He doesn't want to see the woman HE loves frowning with worry . . . her eyes severely solemn . . . and peering out of crinkled corners pleated with lines written by inner tribulation or outer indifference.

BANISH LINES

It is man's job to worry for the family. So let him! It is our job to look pretty for him . . . to keep his spirits soaring. Don't detract from man's stature . . . but increase your own with the light of loveliness eternally shining from a charming face. And don't think that a furrowed brow or a lined countenance are an asset.

We think you'll find great facial revamping in a tiny bottle of greaseless oil . . . paradoxical as that may sound. We know it will help improve the texture of your skin . . . and help soften those lines if they are deep-rooted . . . and eliminate the formation of others. If the wrinkles are only in the incipient stage . . . this unique product will defy their progress.

All you use of this precious formula are seven drops . . . one on the forehead, a drop on each cheek, on the nose and chin. Then gently massage the accumulated drops over the facial expanse . . . and bide your time. But it won't be long, we assure you, before you'll note a marked change in your facial looks.

For the name of this precious seven-drop facial rehabilitation treatment, phone the Beauty Department, LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NOT EVERY woman could be or wants to be as seductive-looking as Paramount Star Marlene Dietrich . . . but is there a woman extant who doesn't want to look captivating? That's a universal yearning as feminine as woman herself . . . and a desirable one. To help keep that facial calmness and repose ever shining . . . there's a unique 7-drop treatment available to keep the complexion soft, smooth and unlined.

'19' Should Live Own Life

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

I WOULD BE the last person in the world to be quick to advise any girl to leave home. But there are times when that seems the only solution to an improper situation. And certainly it is far from a proper one for a 19-year-old girl to have to live under her mother's thumb.

There may be very little a growing child can do to win from a dominating mother the consideration she should have. But when a girl has come close to her twenties and still is a victim of maternal harrying, it is time for her to take a decisive stand for her own protection.

One such girl writes me that she has been going with a young man for over a year; that she loves him and he loves her, but the courtship has had to be completely secret because, if her mother knew about it, she would forbid the two ever to see each other.

"My father sympathizes with me," she writes, "but he hasn't much say, for mother is the boss of the family. If she knew about this, she would find ways and means to prevent us from ever meeting. I tried to talk to her, but she won't listen. What chance have we with a set-up like this?"

Well, the only chance that I see for her romance, under such circumstances, is for her to let her mother understand definitely that she is now of an age when she has a right to live her own life in any reasonable way, and to proceed along those lines in spite of any angry outbursts her mother might stage.

It goes without saying that she should be very sure of her position before doing this. That is, she should be certain that nothing she is doing or contemplates doing could fairly be criticized, that her conduct is above question in every respect.

If she continued to live in her parents' home after asserting her right to freedom of action, she would obviously be subjected to a constant barrage of fault-finding and reproach from her mother. If she could learn to steel herself against this, so that she was not too greatly affected by it, or, if she could plan her time so that she would be exposed to it as little as possible, she might be able to hold on until marriage freed her from the whole sordid situation.

But if she found things unbearable, then, rather than give in to her mother's unreasonable attitude, I think she should get herself a job, if she hasn't one already, and live away from home as an independent individual.

Gowns for Dining Out

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

DINING out is once more a separate, leisurely festivity, not, as it has been lately, merely a prelude to a packed evening when diners left epicurean foods cooling on their plates as they hurried off for an 8:04 curtain. Restaurants have shaken off their carnival fever and once again look as they should, like quiet spots where pleasant, polite people can gather to enjoy the world's finest foods and liquors.

The restaurants are newly decorated to flatter pretty women, and women are returning the compliment by wearing their most beautiful new gowns for dining out. Long dresses in fabulously rich lace, taffeta, satin or velvet hold first place, but the gown that comes to the middle of the calf or touches the ankle is gaining favor.

The dinner gown sketched today was designed by Harriette Harra.

3 Weeks in Woods Fatal to Woman

MILTON, Pa., Oct. 7 (AP) Mrs. Bessie Gilles Sincox, 38, was found dead in a woods where she and her husband had been living for three weeks without shelter, State Policeman Leo R. Armbruster reported.

Dr. Sidney Calloway, Northumberland County coroner, said Mrs. Sincox apparently died after a heart attack brought on by malnutrition and exposure.

Armbruster said the woman's body was discovered last night by her husband Henry, when he returned from a job hunt. The couple had been sleeping in the wooded section with only a few blankets for protection, Armbruster said.

War Bride Jailed In Taxi Holdup

DETROIT, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Baker, 25, British war bride accused in the toy pistol holdup of a cab driver here last March, was sentenced to three to 15 years in prison.

Judge John J. Maher said he would be willing to suspend sentence if the authorities see fit to deport Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. Baker, mother of two children and estranged from her ex-GI husband, Paul, was arrested Aug. 25 and implicated Miss Constance Eunice Le Houp, 25. She told police that Miss Le Houp, who later was arrested in Baltimore, Md., wielded the toy pistol when the cab driver was robbed of $12.

Miss Le Houp pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery and is awaiting sentence.

Rabbi Liebman Declines N. Y. Call

His love for Boston and the many friends he made while serving at Boston's Temple Israel were responsible for his turning down an appointment as rabbi of Temple Emanuel in New York, Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman said today.

Rabbi Liebman, author of the best-seller "Peace of Mind" and one of the city's leading clergymen for the past decade, admitted that he had been offered the new post more than three weeks ago by the pulpit committee of the New York temple, and that his non-acceptance was prompted only after long thought.

"I feel the magnificent cooperation and support given me by historic Temple Israel and its leadership during the past years, as well as the possibilities for continued service to Judaism and Americanism in Boston, the birthplace of the American way of life and the vital center of cultural and vocational activities, outweigh all other considerations," he said.

Fabulous 'Oklahoma' Proves Wonderful as Remembered

By HARRIS MORGAN

They can't be wrong — the 6,124,989 playgoers who have seen "Oklahoma!" (including the 1576 who filled the Colonial to capacity last night) since it began its fabulous career here as "Away We Go!" in March, 1943.

Since that fateful night, the Theater Guild's Rodgers-Hammerstein masterpiece, presently in a five-week return engagement here, has broken every possible mark for attendance, receipts and length of engagement for stage plays in every city from Boston to San Francisco and from New Orleans to Seattle.

In fact, every time the curtain goes up on "Oklahoma!" it breaks a record. No other company or play holds any for it to shoot at. The unbroken string of consecutive weeks of touring and of performances is the envy of all its competitors.

RECORD BREAKER

The company in New York, which holds the metropolitan long-run record for musicals, is now in its 238th week with last night's performance its 1933rd. Its nearest competitor is "Hellzapoppin," which was presented on Broadway a mere 1404 times.

The same amazing freshness and verve that characterized the historic first night of The Theatre Guild's wonder musical permeated last night's performance.

Ridge Bond, a husky young native Oklahoman, and Ann Crowley, a petite soprano until recently in the New York company, are now the frontier lovers, Curly, the dashing cowhand, and Laurey, the farmer's pert daughter.

Singly and together they sing those Richard Rodgers classics, "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," "The Surrey With the Fringe on Top," "People Will Say We're in Love" and "Many a New Day," making them all seem new again by the alchemy of their own vibrant youth and talent.

David Morris' amorous Persian peddler again delights in the musical's most richly comic male role.

Dorothea MacFarland, transferred from the London company to return to the Ado Annie role she played with this company in its previous Boston run, scores again as that distractingly diverting "gal who can't say no."

ALL EXCELLENT

The shotgun-totin' rural judge who makes and executes his own laws as he goes along is ably impersonated by Dave Mallen. Edith Gresham's Aunt Eller is portrayed with forthrightness and zest, and Eugene Keith, Alfred Webster and Alfred Cibelli, Jr., as the federal marshal, the rich farmer and the farmhand villian turn in competent portrayals.

Eyefilling, as of yore, are the Agnes de Mille ballets, with Claire Pasch, George Lawrence, Louise Formaro, Ernest McLean, Lois Johnson, Nancy Hachenberg, Betty Gour and Jean Bledsoe heading the dancers.

"Oklahoma!" played to capacity for eight consecutive weeks when it was last here at the Colonial. Its current engagement is for five weeks only, and the Colonial Theater management and The Theatre Guild regret that so many of the ever-increasing tribe of "Oklahoma!" devotees cannot be accommodated this trip

'Sweethearts' New Name for Bobby Clark

That very funny fellow who has Frank-Bucked a dated and frayed operetta is here again at the Shubert, and he would be the one and only Bobby Clark and it would be the Ruritanian valentine, "Sweethearts."

When he is off-stage, the John Cecil Holm-revamped book sags and succumbs, to be resuscitated only by the adrenalin of the croaking little clown's life-saving presence.

He is the miracle-man of his medium, leering and loping and harrumphing up and down and across the stage, the while he puffs his cigar, winks at the plot or gargles to hit proportions that looney, comical sextet "Pilgrims of Love," along with five assisting vocalizers.

That thoroughly competent comedienne, Marjorie Gateson, and the strikingly handsome blonde, June Knight, lark through the script and the pseudo-European sets some of the time, but it is the great little comic who pulls up goings-on by the bootstraps.

You'll like hearing again those ear-pleasing tunes, "I Might Be Your Once In a While" and "Sweethearts," but, from us to you, it's Bobby Clark rather than Victor Herbert who makes the show.

"LIFE WITH FATHER" 7TH WK.

Tomorrow initiates the seventh big week for Warners' Technicolor screen version of Clarence Day's Broadway hit, "Life With Father," at the Esquire and Modern

Tonight's Opening

Thomas Mitchell, in Hollywood for the past 12 years, returns to the legitimate stage tonight as the star of "An Inspector Calls," a new play by J. B. Priestley which Courtney Burr and Lassor H. Grosberg are opening at the Plymouth Theater for a two-week, pre-Broadway engagement. Already successfully produced in London by the Old Vic Company, the play is being seen for the first time in America tonight.

'The Druid Circle' Sparkles With Wit on Wilbur Stage

By PEGGY DOYLE

Those perfectionists who gave us "The Voice of the Turtle" and "The Mermaids Singing" again have partnered their very considerable talents.

"The Druid Circle," the new John van Druten play which Alfred de Liagre, Jr., presented at the Wilbur Theater last night, may not have the sensational box office appeal of the former but it abounds in the wit and wisdom that made the latter must theater-going.

It shows up the "How I Wonders" and the "This Time Tomorrows" of recent weeks for the "more cosmic than comic" essays they are, and has one rejoicing that van Druten's diverting and discerning playwrighting has not been dulled by weighty words of propaganda.

CARROLL STARS

Leo G. Carroll, returning to a local stage for the first time since his enormously successful portrayal in the title role of the Broadway hit, "The Late George Apley," is the star of the new van Druten play.

The action takes place in a small university town on the borders of England and Wales before the war, is concerned directly with two young college students who are in love with each other and Carroll's Professor White, a frustrated, loveless man who vents his own dissatisfactions on the blameless young couple.

The older man's resentment of the brilliant, resourceful student, who is happily in love and seemingly headed towards a bright and prosperous future is etched with sharp insight by Carroll. It is a magnificently sound characterization, appealing to your sympathies the while it rouses your anger by the force of its inhuman austerity.

MISS GRIFFIES SUPERB

Except for some minutes Carroll's Professor White dominates the action but in those minutes Ethel Griffies, portraying the professor's gossipy, malingering but just old mother, scores.

Miss Griffies, an important English actress before she distinguished herself on Broadway and in some of Hollywood's more impressive productions, has never given a more superb performance.

Others who distinguish themselves in this excellently cast production are Walter Starkey, who was seen here two summers ago with Dame Whitty in "Night Must Fall," and Ellen Humphrey, who play the college sweethearts.

Lillian Bronson's spinster instructor, whose unawareness of the facts of life is of some concern to the faculty members, has a wistful timidity and a monumental persistence that are remarkably appealing.

Boyd Crawford and Neva Patterson, as the much-in-love professor and his wife; Noel Leslie's wispy, be-sweatered professor; Merle Maddern's husband-angling old maid and Aidan Turner's glib, calculating young instructor are all arresting, believable human beings.

Expertly staged by the author, "The Druid Circle" is playwrighting at its literate, intelligent, graceful best that should make attendance at the Wilbur the next couple of weeks genuinely rewarding.

Boston Symphony Plans 67th Season Opening

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, which met with Dr. Serge Koussevitzky yesterday for the first rehearsal in preparation for the opening of its 67th season in Symphony Hall Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, will include Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 1 in the program for the opening concerts.

It will be its first performance here, Dr. Koussevitzky, the orchestra's conductor, announces. Also programmed for the opening pair of concerts are Paul Hindemith's Symphony in three parts, "Mathis der Maler" and Beethoven's Fifth Symphony in C minor.

House Probers Want Parole Data

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Rep. Hoffman (R.) of Michigan, called today for a showdown with the Justice Dept. over whether his committee has a legal right to look at the records of the parole of four former Chicago gangsters.

He ordered subpoenas for Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and Daniel M. Lyons, chairman of the U. S. parole board, to appear before the House executive expenditures committee this morning with the papers in the case.

In a stormy session before the committee yesterday, Lyons refused to surrender physical possession of the parole records.

The records are those of Paul Ricca, Philip d'Andrea, Charles Gioe and Louis Campagna, once members of the Al Capone gang. They were paroled in August after serving a third of their 10-year sentences for conviction of conspiring to extort $1,000,000 from the motion picture industry.

EIRE BANKS CLOSED

DUBLIN, Oct. 7 (AP)—Eire's nine banks closed all their branches in what officials said was a move to prevent a threatened strike. The government empowered the banks to remain closed today.

PERSONALIZED INSTRUCTION
Plus (100 hours) or 4-week post graduate intensive review for students who desire to try the State Board C. P. A. Examination
5 course trains students by scientific laboratory methods "learn-by doing"—and prepares them for good positions in the account-ancy field, including public accounting. The system used is widely regarded as one of the most Modern Time-Saving Systems available. Previous knowledge of bookkeeping is required to enroll in this course. Classes are limited and students get individual attention—the rate of progress depends on YOU—not on the class!
New Day and Evening Classes Begin Oct. 27

No More Worlds To Conquer, So MacPhail Retires

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (INS)—That was a strange scene in the catacombs under the Yankee Stadium yesterday afternoon after the Yankees had come back to their briefly vacated baseball throne.

Surely the most unusual championship celebration your reporter has witnessed in 27 successive World Series. The one he thinks he will remember longest.

It had been a Happy Hooligan, Alice in Wonderland, wonder-what-will-happen-next series. For a brief moment, the Bums of Brooklyn had all but worn the diamond's royal purple only to have the clock strike and end their Cinderella dream.

Still, they had done all right, the Brooks had. With what they had, which, unfortunately did not include one pitcher who even looked as if he might be able to pitch nine innings, they carried the decision to the last possible moment.

Then they had lost it to the slightly better team. But, as the series was played, better only by the narrowest of margins. With just one pitcher and a hale Reiser, they almost certainly would have raised "Hail Columbia" with the new champs from the American League.

In the end, the Yanks had "over-powered 'em" with a couple of bases on balls and a couple of high school base hits off Burt Shotton's pitching parade of the wooden-armed wooden soldiers.

YET THE YANKEES had won and through the years it will be there in the book that they did win. They pay off on your getting home in front, not how you got there. Provided you aren't disqualified.

Yes, the Yanks have won again. And, as tiny Phil Rizzuto, the star of the game, set in motion the double play on Miksis and Edwards that wound it up, he really was starting a "triple-play" he didn't know about. Phil also was throwing out his boss, President Larry MacPhail.

As Mel Allen's words . . . "It's a double-play and the World Series is over" came over the radio in the Yankee dressing room, MacPhail bawled, "That's it (two words deleted) and that's my retirement."

Then the strange scene began. MacPhail laughing and weeping and talking. MacPhail weeping and talking. MacPhail just talking.

MacPhail, that strange man, slapping and hugging the Yankee players; posing for the still cameras; saying to this one: "You got more than you ever thought you'd get from me, didn't you?"

Saying to that one: "I bought you a home, didn't I? You're all right now, aren't you?"

MacPhail saying to a reporter: "You wrote it. I've still got the column and I'm going to frame it for my wall. You said I'd never quit until the Yankees were on top. But I wouldn't stay long after they were. Well they're champions now."

"I TOLD DiMAGGIO, you're the bell-cow. Joe's the bell-cow. He picked Reynolds for us from the Cleveland pitching staff. I never said Joe Gordon wasn't a great ballplayer. I know he's a great ballplayer. We had two second basemen. I wanted Stirnweiss. How'd he look in this series? Hey, Snuffy."

MacPhail, with his arm around Stirnweiss, having his picture taken; having it taken with the bat boys; having it taken with two fellows from Buffalo, who just wandered in to see what the hell was going on.

Everything was going on. And nobody knew for sure what was going on. Was Larry through? Wasn't he through? "Ask him," said Topping, "you know Larry as well as anybody."

"Ask him," said Webb, "you know him as well as I do."

Well, I think he's through all right. He signed some sort of agreement to stay on for two years as an "executive advisor," when he sold his stock to the club.

Some very business wise and tax wise business men have told me that this looked to them like one of the smartest deals ever set up. I wouldn't know, never having passed my kindergarten entrance exams in high finance.

I know that MacPhail, the sentimentalist, is no sentimentalist with a business statement in his hand. He comes from a family of bankers and he knows his way around those figures with the best of 'em.

He comes out of this a rich man and by his own statement to this writer, he was a jump ahead of the sheriff when he came out of the Army the last time. That's moving pretty fast even for a MacPhail.

BUT HIS records in this department, like the Yankees World Series victories, also are in the book. If there has been a better executive or more successful promoter in as many places in sports, you name him.

He would have quit in Brooklyn, war or nor war. That's his gait. When he had met the challenge of the situation over there, his interest lagged.

When he had turned the Stadium into the most perfectly kept and run show place in sports and the Yankees were champions, he was in baseball, Alexander the Great MacPhail with no more world's to conquer.

He may stick around a little while. But around here not for long. That play is not on. The honeymoon is over. It didn't figure to last, anyhow.

The history of the game will evaluate his proper place in its story. But of this much, I personally am sure, he did the game more good than harm and has a deep and abiding affection for it.

Yankees Didn't Cover Themselves With Glory

By HUCK FINNEGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Yanks are world champions for the 11th time in 15 tries. Dodgers have failed four times in four tries. They'll have to "wait'll next year" to try again. The better team won in the Series but didn't cover itself with glory. It took the Yanks seven games to make the Dodgers say 'uncle' when they should have done it in four.

They had superior pitching. Superior power, but they chose to keep catcher Robinson on the disciplinary list and gamble on Berra and Lollar and almost blew a fuse.

Brooks ran wild on Berra and Lollar, seven in nine tries, didn't run on Robby in Shea's Saturday masterpiece, tried to run in the final game but were nipped in the bud. Page is the day's hero. Okay. He let only one Brook reach in five innings, and that man was quickly erased on a game-ending DP. Superb pitching.

But don't forget Robby.

Brooklyn had fire in its eyes at game's start. Stanky angled, but died stealing a moment later. He had a good jump on the pitch, and it took a perfect Robinson throw, delayed because Stirnweiss was late covering, to catch him.

Reese walked. After Jackie Robinson lined to Henrich, Reese tried to steal second. Robby got off another perfect throw, and Pee-wee was a dead duck.

That had all the earmarks of a big, big inning. Shea started with one day's rest and a set of purple blisters on his pitching hand. It was too much to expect him to come back, because he had had to bear down all the way Saturday, fanning Lavagetto on the 3-2 pitch for the final out. That took a lot out of him.

That was evident in the second inning when Hermanski tripled. Edwards and Furillo singled. Shea went out, Bevens in. Jorgensen doubled off Bevens for the Brooks second run, but Bevens, who didn't give a hit in 8 2-3 innings Friday, settled down and pitched good ball through the fourth.

Yanks had got a run in the second on a pair of walks and Rizzuto's timely single. They had two on and two out in the fourth when Brown batted for Bevens. The occasion called more for a base-hit than a pitcher, so Brown produced the base-hit. A double to left that scored Johnson. After Stirnweiss walked, Henrich singled home Brown with the run that gave the Yanks a 3-2 lead, and they were never headed.

Brown, incidentally, has been the unsung hero of the Series. Four times he has been called on to pinch hit in rough spots, and he has walked, singled once and doubled twice for a new Series record.

It is a record that might stand forever because it is doubtful if ever another Series will produce such loose pitching.

Shea was great Saturday, the best-pitched game of the seven. Bevens gave only one hit Friday but walked 10 and lost his game. Casey's been wonderful, working in six of the seven games and giving up only one run, a run that never would have been scored had Gionfriddo been playing left field.

Miksis ran in circles around Johnson's fly, and it fell in for a triple. Doghouse Robinson had the satisfaction of driving him home.

Page saved his reputation by his remarkable performance. He had been combed for 11 hits in eight innings in three previous relief tricks. That was atrocious because Casey was going on high every day. But he mowed down the Brooks in the final game because:

"I kept my curve ball in my pocket. That's what they were hitting the day before, so I threw only two breaking balls in the five innings."

Hodges (pinch-hitter) hit a curve ball foul in the seventh. Dixie Walker grounded out on a slider in the ninth. "I just rared back and let 'er fly."

Page had relieved 55 times and started two games during the regular season, an Iron Man McGinnity role. He saved the Yank's life when Chandler and Shea had sore arms and Bevens was unable to win. This series was advertised as a Page-Casey duel, and it almost became one. Casey had all the advantage until the final game.

Page was heroic. It was nice to see a pitcher of his talents redeem himself. It was nice to see him accompanied by Doghouse Robinson, the man who put lead in the Dodger's feet.

'NO REGRETS'—BURT

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—"I have no regrets," said Burt Shotton, the silver-thatched pilot of the Dodgers, who stepped out of retirement to take the helm when Leo Durocher was suspended.

"The Dodgers are a great team, and they'll be greater next year. We did all we could. We tried, but we couldn't quite make it.

"The better club won this time."

Law on Ducks Off Tomorrow In Maine

MERRYMEETING BAY, Me., Oct. 6 (AP)—The stroke of noon tomorrow will signal "commence firing" to duck gunners who will find "excellent hunting" at the start of Maine's split season, the State fish and game dept. said today.

George Gibbs, Richmond guide, said black ducks, blue wing teal and diving ducks were so numerous and noisy that they had disturbed residents of Bath, Richmond and Bowdoinham, Merrymeeting Bay, at the confluence of the Kennebec and Androscoggin rivers, annually attract hundreds of sportsmen.

The bag limit is four ducks a day and the season runs from Oct. 7 to 18 and Dec. 2 to 13. After opening day, shooting may start at sunrise.

Filchock Coach Of Hamilton Tigers

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 7 (AP)—Frank Filchock, the backfield star under indefinite suspension in the United States, will coach the Hamilton Tigers for the remainder of the season in a surprise move aimed at bolstering the tail-end team of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union.

The decision, announced by club officials last night, meant that the former New York iant will occupy the unique position of both coaching and playingdespite official rulings declaring him ineligible to take part in Canadian football.

The 30-year-old native of Grindstone, Pa., took over the reins from Coach Andy Mullan at the Tigers' practice last night. Mullan, a former Toronto Argonaut who later coached minor league teams in the United States, said he was resigning because of ill health and also because the Tigers just "couldn't seem to tick" under him.

VFW Tourney Enters Semi-Finals Tonight

The Veterans of Foreign Wars baseball tourney semi-final round will get under way tonight at Fraser Field, Lynn, with four teams battling for the championship.

Two seven-inning games are on tap, the first starting at 7 o'clock between the Brockton Post of Plymouth County against the Dilboy Post of Middlesex County. This will be followed by the Saugus Post of Essex County and the North End Post of Suffolk County.

PERINI SATISFIED

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Lou Perini, president of the Braves, said he knew nothing of the Milwaukee situation involving Jake Flowers, president of the Braves' farm club there.

Perini was referring to the action of the Milwaukee Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association in adopting a resolution resenting "verbal attacks heaped upon Milwaukee writers in general" by Flowers.

Perini said he was "highly satisfied" with Flowers' work.

Braves' Long-Range Plans Prompted Southworth Contract

By HUCK FINNEGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—There are pennants ahead for Bostonians. On the eve of the World Series, Joe McCarthy signed a contract to manage the Red Sox for two years, '48 and '49. At the close of the series, or just before the 1 p. m. Special pulled out for Boston today, Billy Southworth signed a contract to manage the Braves for the next five years. At a salary, mind you, "in excess of $250,000," which is more than McCarthy ever made with the Yanks.

McCarthy, with his eight pennants and seven world championships in 15 years with the Yanks, is rated the No. 1 manager in American League history.

Southworth, with his three pennants, two world championships and two second in five full years with the Cardinals, is the most successful manager in National League history.

Southworth came to Boston in '45 with a three-year contract, to run through '48. That one, with a year to go, has been scrapped and the new five-year plan substituted.

"The club is doing some long-range planning," explained Pres. Lou Perini, "and wanted to make sure Southworth would be incorporated in our plans. Cooperation is our keynote."

Perini said he wasn't expecting a pennant in '48 or '49 but he wouldn't refuse one. He realizes it makes for a better club over a long war and getting off to a good start.

"We're trying to get players," he said. "I had hoped to announce the acquisition of somebody prominent at this meeting, but the trade wasn't consummated. Maybe we'll do something at the major-minor league meetings in December.

"I did feel happy though over Milwaukee's victory in the Little World Series," he added, and over its victory against Louisville, Sox farm in the A. A. playoffs. That means we've got a few players coming up.

"It pleases me, too, to note that every club we try to trade with wants to take Alvin Dark (Milwaukee shortstop) or Vernon Bickford (Milwaukee pitcher) from us. We're making progress. Southworth himself put the stamp of approval on Dark."

Southworth was serious when he stepped to his feet, a much richer man than when he played for the '22 Braves and coached Teddy Glynn's Fire Department nine.

He talked of "great responsibility . . . lots of building to do . . . we're far from satisfied with what we've got . . . we've laid groundwork for trades and purchases" . . . and ended with "In the next five years we'll go higher. Someday soon I hope to see an all-Boston World Series."

Southworth's three-year contract called for $33,000 a year with a $5000 bonus if the Braves finished as the first division, $10,000 for third, $15,000 for second and $20,000 for a pennant winner.

"There is no bonus clause in this contract," he said. "I didn't think it ethical. If I asked a pitcher to work out of turn, he might think I was trying to achieve position I, myself, think the toughest 'cog' no bonus clause be included in the new contract."

KNOW DEFEAT—"I know how you feel, Burt," said Joe Cronin of the Red Sox, losing manager in the 1946 World Series, to Burt Shotton, pilot of the Dodgers, after the Yanks had taken the deciding game of this year's series.

Page Bullpen Bum But Hero on Mound

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 — Hugh Casey pitched nine 2-3 innings in six of the seven World Series games, and didn't allow a run until Miksis misjudged Johnson's fly that went for a triple in the eighth inning of the finale. As Bo-Bo Newsom said: "We beat nine players pulling together who had the best relief pitcher (Casey) in the world." And the worst starting pitchers. Imagine using 27 pitchers in seven World Series games! . . . Yankees will get about $3800 the share. That is far from a record despite record receipts. But the Yanks usually cut everybody but the hawkers into the kitty, and the radio rights now go into the pension fund . . . Mumbled two prominent Yank players when MacPhail announced his retirement: "You better come back. You promised us plenty."

"Have Reynolds and Shea warmed up," wig-wagged Bucky Harris to bull-pen coach Johnny Schulte before Bevens was removed for a pinch-hitter. Schulte did as requested. "Who's got the better stuff?" asked Harris. "Reynolds, by all means," said Schulte, and Harris replied, "Okay send in Page."

Yanks have lost confidence in Reynolds. Say he would have won 30 games this year if he hadn't blown such big leads. So they called on Page in the pinch, and Page, who had "nothing in the bull pen, gave up one hit in five innings . . . Spud Chandler will visit Dr. Bennett in Baltimore on his way to his Georgia home. May submit to an arm operation. Charlie Keller must keep his back in a brace another six weeks, then will start testing it again. He didn't play an inning from June 5 on.

Bucky Harris' Washington pennant winners of '24 and '25 had to go the full seven games in the World Series . . . The boys were joshing Joe DiMaggio and Al Simmons suggested: "How about a Greenberg Gardens out there?" Wouldn't be a bad idea. DiMadge hits more 400-foot drives that are caught than any other man in the league . . . Joe Duggan, Joe Cronin, Buddy Myer, Al Simmons and Al Schacht are among the myriad of former big leaguers who dropped in to congratulate Bucky Harris . . . Hank Berhman wasn't good enough for last place Pittsburgh but he was good enough to appear in five World Series games . . . And Lonnie Frey, whom Cincinnati couldn't use, picked up a nice check from the Yanks and all he did was pinch hit once unsuccessfully . . . Brown, the successful pinch hitter, was the Yanks' regular third baseman last spring until a hand injury benched him. Billy Johnson took over, started hitting the ball all over and out of the lot, and Brown had to become utility. But the kid will be a regular before long.

Jumbos Lose Two Star Linemen From Devens Tilt

Tufts launched its Bates game preparations without the services of two of its top linemen, tackle Charlie Berndt and guard Irv Schneider.

They were injured against Ft. Devens. Berndt's loss may be offset by yesterday's reporting of Al Wallman, a 190-pound tackle on last year's Jumbo squad.

Dartmouth Works Hard For Penn Game Saturday

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 7 (AP) —Dartmouth has launched its most strenuous week of the young football season for Saturday's game here with mighty Penn.

Hal Fitkin was moved into the varsity right halfback berth yesterday, and guard Ray Truncellito, with a mask protecting his fractured nose, also participated in the workout.

BU Shifts NYU Game

Boston University will entertain New York University at Fenway Park Saturday afternoon. This is their first meeting since 1923.

The game was originally slated for Friday night, but because of the conflict with the Boston College-Kansas contest, the B. U. authorities decided to shift the game to Saturday since Harvard was playing away from home.

In the only previous meeting between the two teams, 24 years ago, N. Y. U. nipped the Terriers, 7-0, at the Yankee Stadium.

The New York school has announced its intention of returning to the "big time" ranks of college football, and their first move to strengthen themselves was to bring Edward E. "Hook" Mylin there as head coach.

Coach Mylin leaped into national prominence in 1937 when he guided Lafayette to an unbeaten, untied season. He was named "coach of the year" for this accomplishment, and has been considered one of the better coaches ever since.

The Violet mentor employs the single wing and an unbalanced T-formation. And, like B. U., Coach Mylin will need a little time to install his system.

The toughest man on the N.Y.U. roster is Capt. Mike Yaremko, who operates from the fullback slot. Yaremko is a crack defensive back. While in the Army, he served as chief blocker for such grid aces as Glenn Dobbs and Bill Dudley with the Randolph Field Air Wings in the 1944 Cotton Bowl tie with Texas.

The Violet opened their season against a strong Temple eleven in Philadelphia, and were defeated, 32-7, but they bounced back last week to defeat Brooklyn College, 18-6.

Brookline Rivals Settle Argument In NU-Devens Tilt

Northeastern's game with Fort Devens at Huntington Field on Saturday is turning into a town affair, for three Brookline regulars for the Huskies are determined to still the taunts of a pair of fellow-townies who will start for the Soldiers.

The one-man gang for Devens is Stanton Kelly, who lives across the street from John Conroy, Northeastern's quarterback. George Harris at center for Devens also is friendly with Jack Nason, Northeastern guard, and wingman George Keith.

The Devens boys have been talking a great game in conversations with their old high school friends, so the Husky trio is not very happy. That's one reason Saturday's game should be particularly interesting.

Coach Johnny Grinnell can't tell too much about his starting lineup until he finds what players he will have available. At the moment the injury list includes Keith, Conroy, Don Kerivan, Jim Douglas, Sam Musumeci and Capt. George Makris.

Harlow Belittles Team; Must Fear Cavaliers

By BILL GRIMES

On what Harvard and Boston University showed last week in the Stadium, the Virginia Cavaliers, who play the Crimson at Charlotteville come Saturday, would have beaten either team 35 to 0.

That startling piece of news came from none other than Richard Cresson Harlow, Harvard coach. It was released yesterday, during the press-radio-coaches luncheon.

Harlow must have had a reason for such a statement. The reports of the Harvard scouts, who watched the Cavaliers play George Washington University and Virginia Tech, could have prompted him to give vent to such an opinion. But we've heard it said that "the grass is always greener in the other fellow's yard."

If they were as formidable as Harlow's rating, the Cavaliers must be supermen. They broke even last fall, four wins, four defeats and a tie. They knocked off the "push-overs" Hampten Sidney, V. M. I., Princeton and West Virginia but were snowed under by Pennsylvania, North Carolina State and North Carolina, and nipped by Richmond.

It's just possible that Harlow fears that the favorable press will develop a superiority complex. He knows that over-confidence has proved the ruination of many elevens.

Harlow is a clever operator and unquestionably the motive for making such an assertion was sound and will pay off.

Before he deflated his own charges and the Terriers, Harlow predicted that Tufts would be knocked out of the undefeated group by Bates and explained how a carefully planned defense can bottle up better-than-average ball carriers, which, he added, was the reason that his "Chip" Gannon and Capt. Don Giles of the Terriers didn't get loose in the Stadium. He concluded with the admission "I'm glad the B. U. game is back of us."

Aldo "Buff" Donelli, the B. U. mentor, gave high praise to the Harvard defense, which "was too much for our club." He was well satisfied with the showing of his Terriers and was favorably impressed with the playing of Emil Drvaric, Harvard's guard. Then he went off the deep end for George Boston, his right end and Irv Heller, his left tackle. He predicted a brilliant future for his John Toner.

Cliff Sundberg, the B. U. publicist, announced that the Terrier-N. Y. U. game originally scheduled to be played under the lights Friday night at Fenway Park, had been shifted to Saturday afternoon.

Denny Myers, the B. C. coach, watched Holy Cross in action against Temple Saturday afternoon and confessed that he's satisfied that John "Ox" Da Groso, the Crusader mentor, has developed that "four and a half yard" play, the absence of which cost him the Dartmouth game.

Reggie Brown, the veteran scout who is now a "bird dog" for B. C., stated that the Eagles should beat Kansas State Friday night at Braves Field but that they cannot fumble as much or make as many mistakes as they did against Clemson and still come out on top.

Incidentally, the Wildcats from Manhattan, Kan., will arrive Thursday afternoon and are scheduled to work out at Braves Field that night.

Coach "Clipper" Smith of the Yanks, wasn't as chipper as usual. He's much concerned over the exhibition his club gave against the Detroit Lions and he's worried about "Doggie" Julian, his backfield coach, who was the victim of a slight heart attack Sunday noon.

Harold Kopp and Steve Sinko, the Harvard and B. U. line coaches, expressed their satisfaction in the playing of their charges in the Stadium . . . Fred "Fish" Ellis, Tufts coach, and Johnny Grinnell, who is the Northeastern mentor, quickly reviewed their games with Ft. Devens and the University of Maine.

'BUTCH' SONGIN MAY SIT OUT KANSAS GAME

Still suffering from a bruised Achilles tendon, Ed "Butch" Songin, first string Boston College fullback, may not see action against the Kansas State Wildcats Friday night at Braves Field. He sustained the injury in the opening game against Clemson.

In the event that Songin is benched, Bill Morro probably will get the starting nod at the fullback post.

Victor Palladino is another Eagle who may also sit out the Kansas State game. Wrenching his knee during the opening week of practice, the capable guard from Watertown has not reached his peak yet.

With two of its toughest games coming up, L. S. U. (Oct. 17) and Villanova (Oct. 24), B. C. will need the help of Songin and Palladino so Coach Denny Meyers isn't going to rush them into play until they are completely fit.

Duck Season Opens Today In Maine, New Hampshire

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Hundreds of duck hunters will knock the kinks out of their trigger fingers in Maine and New Hampshire today, where the initial periods of the two inland seasons started at noon. It is hoped that the winged targets will co-operate by being on hand—but this writer believes that the sport will not be any better than it was last fall, due to a marked decline in the duck population.

Under Federal laws, birds may be shot from sunrise until one hour before sunset each day. And don't forget to purchase a Federal Duck Stamp! They're as necessary as licenses.

The daily bag limit is four ducks, one of which may be a wood duck. Geese daily bag is four, and one may be a Canada goose, while the possession limit of this species is four.

Daily limit of scoter ducks—coot—is seven; possession limit, 14. These tough, non-edible birds may be taken 'til Dec. 16 beyond outer harbor lines, and otherwise during the open seasons on ducks.

Hint to all duck gunners: Don't squeeze the trigger until the birds are WITHIN range.

OUTDOOR O. O.'s: To gather duck data in various key areas of New Hampshire, technicians from the Fish and Game Dept.'s research division will be stationed at strategic spots. Sportsmen are urged to co-operate in aiding these men to collect as much information as possible.

Hunters in the Granite State are also asked to collect the stomach contents of a large sample of ducks downed this autumn in different parts of the state. These will be very helpful to biologists.

Oh, hum! A proposed budget, which will allegedly increase fish and game in Massachusetts, plus many other "idyllic improvements," will be discussed between Director James Power, of the Fisheries and Game Div., and the five-man Sportsmen's Advisory Committee, today . . . If we sound a bit skeptical, it is because we've listened to talk of "what a budget will do" for years . . . How about some facts instead of masses of figures, which only confuse the anglers and hunters? . . . And the writer still would like to know why it's costing this State more to raise fish than it is elsewhere. . . . If the budget is granted, perhaps it will cost us even more!

We sincerely hope that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will shift our woodcock hunting dates from Nov. 3-17, to Oct. 20-Nov. 2, as recommended by the Sportsmen's Committee . . . There will be far more birds on hand during the earlier period, as everyone knows—except, perhaps, the Division of Fisheries and Game.

Williams Triple-Threat Back Out 3 Weeks

WILLIAMSTOWN, Oct. 7 (AP)—Bud Wilson, Williams veteran triple-threat back, will be out for the next three weeks with his leg injury.

He was unable to play in the last week's opener against Middlebury, a game that revealed that Ephmen's T-formation attack needs polishing.

Middlebury Physically Fit for Trinity Game

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Oct. 7 (AP)—Halfbacks Bonny Buonerba and Bill McNamara were declared physically fit when Coach Duke Nelson opened Middlebury College's football preparations for Trinity. The only Panther injured during the 19-7 win over Williams was Mike Tanes.

Ben Levias N. E. Delegaie To National AAU Convention

Ben Levias, director of the Record-American "Learn to Swim" campaign and "Silver Skates Derby" production, was elected as one of eight N. E. delegates to represent this area at the forthcoming National AAU convention to be held in Nebraska.

Levias has been one of the leading figures in amateur athletics in New England for the past 38 years. He held the New England three-mile swimming championship as well as a former high and low board diving championship. He is currently connected with the First National Bank of Boston.

The election was held at the Hotel Lenox

One of the highlights of the meeting was the unopposed re-election of John J. "Tam" Sheehan to continue for another year as president of the association. Benny Austin will continue as vice-president. Herb Holm will continue as secretary-treasurer.

The other seven delegates for the National convention are President Sheehan, Bill Downing, Herb Holm, Ralph Colson, Larry Johnson, Freddie Russo and Norman Moore.

Walter Brown, president of the Garden-Arena corporation, Gene Driscoll, past NEAAU president, and Herb Holm will act as trustees of the athletic group.

Collins Settles South End Problem By Beating M'Guire

By FRED HOEY

There may be a shortage of homes and egg and meat restrictions may soon plague the people of the South End, but there's one thing they are assured of, and that is the lightweight boxing title of their district has been definitely decided. Last night at the Arena, Tommy Collins (120 pounds), outboxed, outslugged and did everything to his neighbor, Mickey McGuire (130), in the brilliant show closer of the Callahan A. C. all-star show.

Collins, 18 years old, had been en McGuire, 19 years, in their first meeting which was in the amateur ranks. But, last night, the boys were in there for keeps and dough.

In the last four rounds, they waged a furious battle. It was amazing that McGuire was able to stand up under the heavy assault his foe inflicted but the weight advantage stood him in good stead.

A rapier-like left hand by Joey Angelo, Providence, enabled this 23-year-old youth to spring a big upset when he decisioned Jack (Spider) Armstrong, Toronto, in last night's main bout.

Red Wells, Manchester, N. H., registered a five-round TKO over Jimmy McLarnin, New Bedford, in a 10-round bout.

In the preliminaries, Dick Callahan, Boston, stopped Frank Young, Boston, in the first round; and Guy Roy, Montreal, won the award from Chet McDonough, Boston, in four rounds.

The paid attendance was 2971 for a gross of $5608 and net of $3099.

Sebastian Meets Andrews Tonight

Flash Sebastian, welterweight champ of Hawaii and the Philippines, and Dave Andrews, former N. E. champion, are ready to answer the bell for the first show of the season for the new Dempsey A. A. at Mechanics Building tonight.

Andrews faces a Philippino in Sebastian, whose latest win is a KO over dangerous Pat Byers.

The preliminary card, composed of all six rounders, is as follows: Frankie Feener, Randolph, recent winner over Leo Sawicki, meets Tiger Flowers, Worcester; Tony Genovese, West End, tangles with Charley Pappas, Dorchester; Bob Adley, Wareham, vs. Joe Bolduc, Boston, and Dom Saia, Boston, vs. Jackie Keefe, Lowell.

Jocko Conlan Testifies Doherty Almost Spoiled Foxboro Deal

Joseph W. Doherty, Brookline broker, who is suing Paul Bowser and the Foxboro Harness Racing Track for $25,000 and 8 per cent of the track's stock, was so anxious to get a permit for building the track approved that he almost alienated the Washington contact man who arranged it.

This was the testimony in Suffolk Superior Court today of Arthur J. "Jocko" Conlan, former Harvard baseball captain, who worked with Doherty on the deal and said the broker had promised him one-half of the percentage of the track stock which was received.

"Doherty was over-anxious to get the thing put through," Conlan testified. "I think he irritated Col. Hunt (Col. James V. Hunt, described yesterday by Doherty as an "influential Washington contact").

"Col. Hunt said he thought it was best that Doherty didn't come to his office. Bowser arrived in Washington that day and Hunt wouldn't let Doherty into the inner office for the conference. He tolerated him, but said he didn't want him in on the discussion. Doherty stayed outside."

He denied Doherty's testimony yesterday that he was a prominent New York banker and member of the Stock Exchange. He said he was a stockholder in the F. L. Putnam Co. and had no exchange seat.

At this point opposing counsel agreed that certain financial information regarding the track be read into the record.

This showed that the track originally had 5000 shares of no par value, of which 4800 were owned by Bowser and 100 each by Atty. Thomas J. Colbert, present clerk of the racing association, and Winifred M. Sheeley.

It was shown that Bowser, on July 24, transferred 1250 shares to E. M. Loew, theater magnate, who invested $400,000 in the track.

On July 29, it was shown, the stock was split 10 for 1 by changing it to 50,000 shares of $1 par value. All shares then were transferred to a voting trust which controls and runs the track.

The present stock alignment, it was shown, was 35,500 for Bowser; 12,500 for Loew and 100 each for Colbert and Sheeley.

Loew and J. Louis Shack were added to the board of directors. Trackofficers now are Bowser, president; Loew, treasurer; Colbert clerk, and Shack, assistant clerk.

Doherty had spent most of the day on the stand yesterday, telling of his agreements with Bowser under which he obtained permission for building the track and obtaining financial backing, ending with Bowser's refusing to pay him.

PASS 2 MILLION

NEW YORK—Yesterday's turnout of 71,548 added $319,778.09 in total receipts to the Series mark for a record-breaking figure of $2,021,348.92. The previous record of $1,592,454 was set in '45 in the Detroit-Chicago Series.
